TEXAN SATISFIED . . .

Billionaire Sees No. Vietnamese

Bangkok, Thailand (AP) — Computer magnate H. Ross Perot returned from Vientiane late Wednesday and said he was satisfied with his attempts to fly two plane loads of Christmas gifts to U.S. prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

Perot, 39, a billionaire from Dallas, Tex., met with North Vietnamese Embassy officials in Vientiane after an advance party of representatives arranged the appointment earlier in the day.

Looking haggard after his round-trip flight to the Laotian capital, Perot told newsmen his meeting with the North Vietnamese was "candid and productive."

"The North Vietnamese wall of suspicion about us has begun to melt," he said.

Other Contacts

He added that he and members of his organization, "United We Stand," had established "other valuable contacts elsewhere."

However, there were indications advance men had been in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, meeting with North Vietnamese diplomats.

Perot said he was unwilling to disclose the details of his meeting lest he jeopardize the outcome of his mission. A third meeting was set for Christmas Day or early Friday, he said.

One of two chartered jetliners loaded with Christmas dinners, personal gifts and medical supplies was scheduled to leave for Vientiane early Thursday, following an attempt to take off for Laos Wednesday.

Technicalities

Perot said the plane was held up at Bangkok airport because of technicalities. He and several aides flew to Vientiane on a chartered light aircraft.

He said he would fly aboard the jetliner Thursday along with more than 30 aides, Red Cross nurses, clergymen and newsmen.

Perot said it was unsafe to fly the jetliner into Vientiane after dark because of "sporadic ground fire along the runway."

'Peace On Earth'

The pea-green jetliner at Bangkok has words "Peace on Earth" painted on its side. The second plane, inscribed with "Good Will Toward Men," was reported awaiting orders in Los Angeles.

The North Vietnamese have told Perot the only way the gifts will be accepted is by mail through Moscow. Hanoi radio continued to berate him.

It broadcast an editorial in the official newspaper Nhan Dan calling his mission "part of the U.S. government's scheme to excite public feeling, cover up its crimes and evade its obligation to end the war."

3.2 Million More To Eat Hot Meal

. . . IN SCHOOL PROGRAM

©The New York Times

Washington — The Nixon administration opened the way Wednesday for hundreds of thousands of poor children to receive airplane-style hot lunches in schools which lack food facilities.

Dr. Jean Mayer, special consulant to the President, announced the drafting of new regulations to permit food management companies to service such schools. He reaffirmed the administration's intent to double the number of children benefited by school food programs.

Dollar details notwithstanding, he said, "6.6 million needy children will get free or reduced price lunches by Thanksgiving, 1970 — and it will cost what it will cost."

Mayer spoke at a White House news conference at which he reviewed recent administration actions against hunger and malnutrition.

The action won praise from Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., a leading advocate of anti-hunger programs and critic of administration hunger policy.

"I believe the Nixon administration's efforts in food assistance constitute its most important domestic achievement in 1969," he said.

Until last year, Mayer noted, only 2.2 million poor children benefited from subsidized lunch programs. Now the total is 3.4 million. But at least as many more children still do not benefit.

Solution Possible

"The major reason," Mayer said, "is that many of them go to old urban schools which lack facilities to prepare and serve food." That, however, is a problem which can be solved, "as any of us who fly in airplanes at 600 miles an hour and five miles up know."

The Agriculture Department is revising a regulation which has effectively kept private food management companies out of the school food business. The same companies feed colleges, airlines and factories, Mayer said.

Such companies have been largely excluded from the school lunch program since it began in the early 1940s because of legislation limiting federal assistance to nonprofit organizations and opposition from state and local school lunch administrators when proposals to expand the program were considered in the 1950s.

Hostility Mars Christmas In Asia, Africa, Mideast

By The Associated Press

Christmas 1969 came as it has in recent years with hostilities in Asia, Africa and the Middle East. It emerged in a temporary truce on South Vietnamese battlefields and seemed to overshadow some of the world's problems.

Decorations ranged from evergreen boughs in Canada to bamboo leaves in the Philippines. Gifts told of the giver and his customs. Prayers in different tongues spoke of the birth of Christmas and its message: "Peace on Earth."

In the Middle East Israeli security forces moved through Bethlehem, the birth place of Christ, as thousands of pilgrims poured in.

GIs Help Children

Soldiers in Vietnam and at other U.S. military installations in the Far East, Europe and the United States gave Christmas parties for children at orphanages and hospitals.

One party in the hills of South Vietnam, near Ba To, saw 2,000 Montagnard children receiving dolls, model cars, coloring books, clothes and candy from troops of the Americal Division's 4th Battalion, 3rd Infantry, 11th Brigade. Santa Claus came in a Jeep.

In wartorn Biafra, the 5,000th mercy flight of the Joint Church Aid brought 10 tons of food and medical supplies during the night.

Quieter This Year

In the United States, Christmas was quieter this year than last, when the Apollo 8 astronauts were circling the moon, and the crew of the intelligence gathering ship Pueblo was coming home after 11 months of captivity.

As usual, shoppers jammed the stores to make last-minute purchases. Department store officials said revenue was higher than last year, but many attributed the increase to higher prices brought on by inflation rather than additional volume.

Hundreds of thousands were visiting relatives and families or taking vacations.

President Nixon, his wife and daughter Tricia planned to go to San Clemente, Calif., after spending Christmas at the White House.

Many had a white Christmas. Snow blanketed the Midweest and parts of the Northeast, and was expected in the Pacific Northwest, Northern California and inland to Utah and the Rockies.

Pathology Training Program Set Here

The American Board of Pathology and the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association has approved a four-year residency training program in Lincoln for anatomic and clinical pathology.

The program will utilize the clinical laboratories of both Bryan Memorial and Lincoln General Hospitals under supervision of the Physicians' Pathology Laboratory.

Training will be offered by the Department of Anatomical Pathology in autopsy and surgical pathology with clinical cytology. The Department of Clinical Pathology will conduct training in clinical chemistry, parasitology, microbiology, hematology, blood banking, automated instrumentation, isotopes, immunology, and an exposure to the clinical problems and handling of medical investigations

The program is designed to provide a wide exposure of material for a hospital practicing pathologist with emphasis on providing consultaton services for staffs of various size.

Residents will work between Lincoln General and Bryan Memorial Hospitals depending upon the particular service for which they are being trained.

Four four-year training programs are offered and residents will be accepted to any stage of training with appointments to those levels satisfactorily attained. The residency provides for one first-year; one second-year; one third-year; and one fourth-year resident. The house staff at Lincoln General presently provides for six rotating internships and at Bryan Memorial ten rotating internships are provided.

A one-year program has been conducted at Lincoln General Hospital and this program has been expanded to four years and will now be conducted at both Lincoln General and Bryan Memorial Hospitals.

One-Car Mishap West Of Gordon Fatal To Man, 28

Gordon — A 28-year-old California man became Nebraska's first holiday fatality when he died in a one-car crash Wednesday evening four and one-half miles west of Gordon.

The Sheridan County sheriff's office identified the man as Peter Keith Jolly of Manhattan Beach, Calif.

He was eastbound on U.S. 20 when his car ran off the road, hit a concrete culvert and rolled twice, winding up on its roof. Jolly was pinned inside the vehicle and apparently died instantly, officials said.

New Council Rejects 32% Of Planning Recommendations

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The present City Council has voted contrary to City-County Planning Commission recommendations on zoning changes 32% of the time, a check of city records reveals.

Since the new council took over in May, council members have disagreed with planning commission decisions 11 times while concurring with them 23 times.

The reversal of planning commission recommendations has prompted one commissioner to speak out in criticism of the way in which the council has been approving zoning changes.

'A Steady Erosion'

At a recent commission meeting, Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, a University of Nebraska political science professor, charged that "during the last several months we have had a steady erosion of the criteria and principles we have used in considering requests for changes of zone and special permits."

The previous council, during a similar length of time preceding the seating of the new council, had taken different positions 24% of the time. The old council had reversed the planning commission recommendation eight times while agreeing with the commission 26 times.

The present council overturned the planning group by approving seven zoning changes, denying one zoning change, approving two zoning ordinance amendments and denying one zoning ordinance amendment.

Waged Five Denials

The planning commission had recommended for denial five changes which would permit business and industrial developments in areas zoned for residential developments.

Commissioners had recommended denial on four of the requests on grounds that the business developments constituted encroachments into residential areas, were examples of spot zoning, would lead to further business uses in the area, and or that sufficient land was available elsewhere already zoned for the proposed use.

But a majority of council members approved the changes saying they felt that the land could be used best for the new developments and that the changes would create more economic growth.

The council members voting for the changes felt that the new developments would not have an adverse effect on the community or the neighborhood.

For Parking Lot

The fifth zoning change involved a request for a change to K Light Industrial so that a business could build a parking lot. Commission members had recommended denial saying that a zoning change was not necessary since a parking lot could be constructed by obtaining a special permit from the council.

Much of the discussion on zoning has centered on the approval of business zoning at 70th and O Sts.

The previous council and the planning commission had recommended denial of a change that would permit development of a medical office buildings complex, drugstore and motel next to the St. Elizabeth Community Health Center. Those for denial felt that approval of the change would lead to further business developments in an undeveloped area zoned for single family homes.

But a proposal for a Polynesian Village, which includes a restaurant and stores, at the southwest corner of the 70th and O St. intersection, won approval shortly after the new council members took office.

Justifiable Development

A majority of council members felt that

Rezoning Urged For Mystery Industry

An anonymous firm Wednesday cleared its first hurdle toward getting a zoning change for industrial use on 880 acres of land northeast of Lincoln.

Despite a shortage of information on who the industry is or how the land will be developed, the City-County Planning Commission unanimously recommended approval of a zoning change to M Restricted Industry.

Several commission members expressed their dismay about not having sufficient information, but added they were willing to gamble that the industry would be developed properly.

The property in question lies between Fletcher and Havelock Aves. one mile east of 84th St.

Opportunity Seen

Commission chairman Ed Perry said the proposal represents "an opportunity for Lincoln to have a desirable industry."

But, Perry added, taxpayers should recognize that City Council approval of the zoning change could likely require servicing the Stevens Creek Watershed area and the industry with utilities.

"Taxpayers should be prepared to spend a lot of money," he warned, saying that cost for water, sewer and streets would likely run in the millions of dollars.

New Plant Needed

The City Council presently has a policy not to permit development of the Stevens Creek area because of the high cost to provide services to the area. A new sewage treatment plant would be required to provide sewer service.

Commission member George David said that permitting the 880 acres to be developed for industrial use would "open up Pandora's box on the east side of Stevens Creek."

Other commissioners agreed with David that once the industry develops, people are going to want to live in the Stevens Creek area.

"I wonder whether we can afford it," commission member George Williamson questioned.

Commission members discussed at length whether there was any way to place restrictions on the zoning change so that the city would be protected from any unwanted developments.

A condition for granting the zoning change on land now zoned AA Rural and Public Use was approved which calls for the zoning to be reviewed within five years.

Charles Wright, a Lincoln attorney representing the anonymous firm, said, when interviewed, that he has no objection to the review.

'Nothing Improper'

"The firm has no intentions of selling, subdividing or developing the land in an improper manner," Wright said.

The attorney also told commissioners the firm has no objection to the M Restricted Industrial zoning. The firm had originally petitioned for I Light Industrial, which is a less restrictive zoning district.

Wright said the identity of the firm would be publicly disclosed prior to final City Council action on the zoning change.

Board To Meet

He said the announcement would be made in January following the firm's directors meeting to decide on the purchase of the property.

"I have every reason to believe they (the directors) will approve it," Wright said.

Planning Director Douglas Brogden, in his written report to the commission, termed granting the zoning change as "one of the most significant actions that the city has taken."

Wright said that the firm plans to use the entire 880 acres for is operations but may not develop the entire tract during initial construction.

Agnew To Give Asian Leaders Moon Pieces

(C) New York Times News Service

Washington — Moon samples brought back by American astronauts will be given by Vice President Agnew to the leaders of the 10 nations he will visit on his tour of Southeast Asia and the Pacific beginning Friday, the vice president revealed. President Nixon added that Agnew would also carry presidential messages to the leaders.

Leaders' Moods Vary

Rabat, Morocco — Arab leaders left Rabat in varying moods after the collapse of a strategy conference on Israel — some humiliated, others angry and a few relieved. The conference broke apart without even a final communique after Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, which are wealthy in oil royalties, refused to increase contributions for a build-up of the Arab armies of other states to prepare for war with the Israelis.

South Jersey Crime Hit

Newark, N.J. — U.S. Atty. Frederick B. Lacey said federal prosecutors and investigators in New Jersey and Pennsylvania have joined in an attack on organized crime and its political protectors in South Jersey.

Alioto Shared Fee

San Francisco — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto confirmed that the public official who hired him to represent a group of municipal utilities and the state of Washington in an antitrust action shared his legal fee, but the mayor added that he had been assured by the official that the arrangement between them was perfectly legal. Rhode Islander Cleared

Providence, R.I. — A 28-year-old Rhode Island man was cleared of a charge of refusing induction into the armed forces by a federal judge who ruled that the man was wrongfully fired by the Peace Corps and illegally reclassified by his draft board. (More on Page 2.)

Children To Benefit

Washington — Dr. Jean Mayer, special consultant to President Nixon, announced the administration's intent to change federal rules so that hundreds of thousands of poor children in schools that lack food facilities could receive airplane-style hot lunches by next Thanksgiving. (More on Page 1.)

Willie 'The Actor' Is Free

Albany, N.Y. — Willie "The Actor" Sutton, the ailing 68-year-old prison escape artist, drove away from Attica prison in the most unusual of his escapes — a legal one. Two recent court decisions had led the State Department of Corrections to recompute the bank robber's sentence and discover that he should be a free man on Christmas Eve. (More on Page 31.)

Communists Break Truce

Saigon (AP) — American Marines killed 38 North Vietnamese in a series of Christmas Eve fights southwest of Da Nang as the allies' 24-hour holiday truce passed the halfway mark, American spokesman said.

The U.S. Command reported 47 incidents initiated by the enemy during the truce period. The command said 24 were considered "significant," having caused casualties.

At least five Americans were killed after the enemy's truce began. U.S. casualties since the start of the allied truce period were two wounded, the command said.

The incidents occurred between 6 p.m. Christmas Eve and 6 a.m. Christmas morning, local time.

Four Shellings

Four were shellings, while the others involved ground action described by command officers as being instigated by enemy forces.

The allies say they are standing down from all combat operations during the 24-hour holiday truce. They do not recognize the enemy command's declared 72-hour cease-fire that overlaps it.

Included in the stand-down were Air Force B52 strikes, none of which were flown in South Vietnam after 6 p.m. local time Wednesday.

This did not preclude their being diverted to enemy infiltration routes and base camps on the Laotian side of the border, the U.S. Command said.

The U.S. Command accused the enemy of violating his own cease-fire.

It said that seven hours after the Viet Cong truce began, a claymore mine killed four U.S. soldiers and wounded five in a village 24 miles northwest of Saigon. The blast killed two South Vietnamese soldiers and wounded two civilians.

Predawn Clash

The only significant ground fighting reported by the U.S. Command for Wednesday was a predawn clash between U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division troops and more than 100 North Vietnamese entrenched in bunkers near the Cambodian border 75 miles north of Saigon.

Headquarters said the Americans pulled back and called in artillery and air strikes that killed an estimated 30 enemy soldiers. There were no U.S. casualties.

In Saigon, where one civilian was killed and four others wounded in terrorist attacks the night before, the downtown area was jammed Christmas Eve with cars and care-free holiday celebrants of all ages and nationalities.

Communists Bar Christmas Visits In Divided City

Berlin (UPI) — Candles flickered in West Berlin windows Wednesday night as a symbol of the unity of tens of thousands of families split by the Berlin wall and barred by the Communists from even Christmas visits.

The city's U.S., British and French commandants issued Christmas messages expressing the wish that the approximately 800,000 West Berliners with close relatives in East Berlin might be able to see them next year.

For the fourth consecutive Christmas, the East Germans refused to issue holiday passes to enable West Berliners to visit their relatives on the East Berlin side of the wall. The Communists even rebuffed a plea for the International Red Cross to open the wall during the holiday to allow family reunions.

BETHLEHEM'S STREETS . . . are patrolled by Israeli occupation soldiers.

Bells Of Bethlehem Toll Message Of Peace

Bethlehem (AP) — In a Holy Land scarred by war, the bells of Bethlehem once again tolled their Christmas message of peace Thursday from a humble little town crowded with Christian pilgrims and ringed by Israeli steel.

At midnight, the birthplace of Jesus Christ seemed to symbolize a world torn by the conflicts of faith and fear.

Thousand of pilgrims prayed and sang hymns in Manger Square.

Hundreds of Israeli troops and police mounted guard over the Christian devotion inside and outside the floodlit Church of the Nativity.

Every soldier had been made aware of renewed threats by Arab extremists against Christmas visitors to a holy city under its third year of Israeli rule.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, in Amman, served a final warning Wednesday for people to stay away from Israel.

Mass Chanted

At midnight, the Latin (Catholic) patriarch of Jerusalem, Msgr. Alberto Gori, chanted Pontifical Mass in the ancient shrine — a service relayed by closed-circuit television to the crowds in the square who had come here from many parts of the world.

A few yards away, an Israeli army patrol moved through one of Bethlehem's ancient alleyways checking for any infiltrators who may have managed to ease past roadblocks set up three miles around the hilltop town.

There was one scare early on Christmas Eve — three sudden explosions that rattled windows throughout Bethlehem. Residents ran into the streets in alarm.

But Israeli military authorities reassured them: "Nothing is wrong."

A spokesman said the blasts — at intervals of 10 minutes — probably came from a sonic boom or the deliberate detonation of an explosive by the Israelis.

Bethlehem, enjoying mild sunshine Wednesday after a day of solid rain, was barred to visitors without special permits.

The pilgrims came nevertheless — from the United States and Britain, from France, Italy and Scandinavia, from Japan, India and Africa. They came despite repeated threats by Arab sabotage organizations, and despite the atmosphere of impending explosion that hangs over the Israeli-occupied part of Jordan.

Life Goes On

Not far from the church, over the grotto where the Gospels say Christ was born, Bethlehem's other life went on.

Souvenir stores did a thriving trade selling their mother of pearl beads and olivewood religious symbols.

Pop music blared from the town's few restaurants and bars.

Judge OKs Objection To A Particular War

San Francisco (AP) —A federal judge Wednesday upheld the right of a young man to claim status as a conscientious objector on the basis of religion even if he objects only to a particular war.

U.S. District Judge Stanley A. Weigel ruled in the case of Leslie Charles Bowen, 24, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who had refused induction in the military. Weigel declared a section of the draft law unconstitutional.

Bowen had asked his Michigan draft board for conscientious objector classification under Roman Catholic doctrine holding that there are just and unjust wars.

The draft board and the Michigan Appeals Board refused, and Bowen was ordered to report for induction at Oakland, Calif., June 23, 1968.

Weigel said the Catholic doctrine "sets out certain standards according to which each Catholic determines for himself whether the war is just. If he determines the war is unjust, a Catholic must not participate in it. To do so would be to violate his religion."

The judge said there was no question about Bowen's sincerity and religious motivation.

Credit Rein Bill Signed

Washington (UPI)—President Nixon reluctantly signed Wednesday a bill authorizing him to invoke anti-inflation credit controls. He said the measure could lead to a controlled economy.

The primary intent of the legislation was to preserve the authority of the federal government to regulate interest paid by banks and savings and loan associations. Nixon had no objections to this section, but expressed objections to giving the chief executive the power to invoke voluntary credit controls.

White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler said he assumed Nixon would not invoke credit controls.

War Critic Fired By Peace Corps Was Illegally Drafted, Judge Rules

Providence, R.I. (AP)— The Peace Corps and the Selective Service System violated the constitutional rights of a Newport man who criticized U.S. Vietnam policy and subsequently was dismissed from the corps and ordered inducted, a federal judge ruled Wednesday.

The ruling by U.S. District Judge Raymond Pettine came in the case of Stephen Bruce Murray, 28, who contended there was a "conspiracy" to punish him for anti-Vietnam statements he made while a Peace Corps volunteer in Chile.

Murray was ordered home by the Peace Corps in 1967 and his services were "terminated." He refused induction into the armed services and was indicted.

Indictment 'Invalid'

Judge Pettine ruled the indictment "invalid," ordered a halt to further prosecution on the charge and canceled the order of Local Board 3 of Newport of Sept. 12, 1967, that Murray report for induction.

The 57-page decision found that Murray's rights were violated in his expulsion from the Peace Corps and that his Selective Service rights were unlawfully denied by the local board and the Rhode Island Selective Service Administration.

Murray had a student deferment until he graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles with a master's degree in music in 1965.

He then joined the Peace Corps and taught music at Conception University in Chile.

Criticized Policy

While in Chile he criticized American Vietnam policy in a letter that was published in a Chilean newspaper.

Pettine said the expulsion of Murray violated the due process clause of the First Amendment.

He cited "generally incompetent, illegal and unexplained conduct of the local board," but rejected Murray's conspiracy contention.

Pettine said an "essential" part of the case was Murray's contention that if he had not been expelled by the Peace Corps, he would have reached his 26th birthday, the draft age limit, Nov. 7, 1967, and still be deferred.

Readjustment Ordered

Pettine ordered Murray's draft classification readjusted from June to December 1967.

The decision detailed what Pettine called the "regulatory lawlessness" of the local board's actions at various stages in Murray's applications for occupational deferment and conscientious objector status and his failure in appeal processes.

A Peace Corps check list on Murray's dismissal "was falsely filled out," Pettine said, and no opportunity was afforded him "for vigorous and fully informed adversarial confrontation on the issues."

Council And Planning Unit Clash

the proposed use was a justifiable development despite the commission's recommendation for denial.

Since then, a proposal by Planning Director Douglas Brogden to change the zoning on other land to business use in the East O St. area from 66th to 70th Sts. has been approved by the council. The zoning change included land for the medical offices complex. Brogden proposed the change on the grounds that the area is no longer suitable for residential development.

The present council also approved two requests for multiple family zoning in areas where the commission considered apartments to be spot zoning. But again the majority of council members contended that the apartment units would not have an adverse effect on the area.

The one time in which the council denied a zoning change which the commission had recommended for approval was for an apartment complex at 11th and Garber in the Belmont area.

Commissioners felt that the apartments would be a suitable use for the area, providing housing near a shopping center and not too far from the university.

But this time the council felt approval would create traffic problems and also said that there was not the need for the particular density of apartment units in the area.

Out of the 23 agreements over zoning changes, the council concurred 9 times for denial.

Turned Down

Business zoning turned down included proposals for a cabinet making shop and an appliance store in residential areas and an auto salvage yard near U.S. 77.

The council also concurred with the commission's recommendation to deny two zoning changes for business uses in the East O. St. area that were submitted as alternative proposals to the plan proposed by Brogden for the area. The council agreed that the two areas should be developed for residential use.

Council members and planning commissioners have also been in agreement on special permits nearly 100% of the time.

Out of 10 permits considered by the council, only one — for a day care nursery center — found council members initially taking a different position. But that action by the council for approval included several stipulations which the applicant said prohibited the nursery school from being constructed.

Santa Claus Has Headquarters At Milford During Christmas

. . . HAS DISTRIBUTED GOODIES FOR LAST 41 YEARS

By DICK MEZZY
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Milford — Old Kris Kringle, or as he is better known, Santa Claus, is alive and well, living in Milford . . . at least contrary to some belief, and during Christmas.

Every year, for the past 41 at least, Santa appears during the Christmas season here and makes the traditional stops at the homes of youngsters leaving sacks of candy and other goodies.

Because Santa was so busy with his annual trip coming up, and he seemed so wrapped up in checking his lists and preparing his bundle, a close friend of his, Melvin Conkling, spoke for him.

MRS. SANTA CLAUS

Conkling, who for some strange reason looks just like the Jolly Old Elf, said that Santa started using the Conkling home as a Milford base for Christmas some 41 years ago. With the exception of the war years, annual visits to the children here have become about as much of the Christmas scene as snow and holly.

Conkling, who appears as ageless as old St. Nick himself, said Santa first began using the Conkling home for base when he, Conkling, was about 13 years old.

Accompanying Santa on some visits is Mrs. Claus, who lends a hand with the children and keeps a hot pot of coffee going at the Conkling home for Santa when he finishes his rounds.

Fit Parents' Schedule

Santa compiles his list of visits through a local grocery store; from there he makes up his gift sacks for the children, and makes out a time schedule to comply with the parents'.

Conkling said he gets a great deal of satisfaction watching the eyes of children light up when Santa walks through the front door with his sack of goodies.

SANTA CLAUS . . . checks his list twice.

Money to buy the goodies Santa and his helpers can't build comes from well-wishers in the community who donate funds for the purchase of candy and other small items.

100 Sacks

"It seems like more and more children get visited every year," he said, noting that Santa has more than 100 sacks to deliver this year.

A glance into a clothes closet at the Conkling home revealed several red suits trimmed in white fur and shiney black boots waiting for their owner to don them and begin his journey.

Lots Of Helpers

"Santa couldn't do it all by himself," Conkling noted. "He has a lot of helpers around town and he needs every one of them to do a good job."

"Well," Conkling said, "I have to get back and help Santa. It's his big night tonight, and he has a lot to do."

Assault, Gunshots Linked To Iowa Beef Packers Strike

Dakota City, (AP) — Authorities said Wednesday two more incidents of violence in Dakota County apparently were linked with the long, bitter strike at the Iowa Beef Packers, Inc., plant here.

Harvey E. Debruim of Hospers, Iowa, who has been inspecting meat at the plant for the government, said two men entered his motel room Tuesday and assaulted him.

He said one of the men grabbed him in a headlock and twisted his neck.

The same day, two shots were fired at an automobile driven by Richard Miller of South Sioux City, who has been working at the plant during the strike, said Sheriff Allan Bligh.

Miller told authorities the shots were fired from a pickup truck as he drove to work along U.S. 77 about one half mile from the plant.

Feeders Course Off

The short course for large cattle feeders, originally scheduled at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education on Jan. 2-3, 1970, has been cancelled. Dr. Paul Guyer, University of Nebraska Extension livestock specialist, said it is planned to hold the event in 1971.

Mrs. Huffman Dies In Topeka

Topeka, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. Rosalie G. Huffman, 60, wife of Merle Huffman, treasurer of Stauffer Publications, died at her home Tuesday. She had a heart ailment.

Mrs. Huffman was born in Pittsburg, Kan., and lived in Grand Island, Neb., before moving to Topeka in 1950.

Hastings Gets Grant

Hastings (AP) — The Gulf Oil Corp. has announced a $2,000 unrestricted grant to Hastings College. The company said it is contributing $3 million this year to private universities and colges.

Widow, 73, Will Have Sad Holiday

Norfolk (AP) — A 73-year-old widow plans to spend a sad Christmas without her family and without her cash savings.

"Somebody will have a nice Christmas, but it sure won't be me," said Mrs. Lola Faulkner of Norfolk, who was victimized by a purse snatcher last weekend.

Mrs. Faulkner was walking on South First Street Saturday afternoon, carrying a purse containing $1,400 in cash, when a young man approached her.

"He gave my purse a quick jerk and my money was gone," she said. "We've been saving that money for over 15 years, and it's all the money I had in the world."

The money, saved by her and her late husband, was to be used mostly for remodeling the Faulkner home. That was a long-time dream of her husband.

The theft also means she'll have to cancel her Christmas plans.

"I was going to buy some things and make myself a nice Christmas dinner," said Mrs. Faulkner, who has a son, Walter, living in Waterloo, Iowa, and a daughter, Mrs. Lucile Clifford, in North Hollywood, Calif.

Mrs. Faulkner is living on a modest pension.

Corn Buries Ulysses Man

Ulysses (AP) — Joe Matulka, 50, apparently died of suffocation Wednesday evening on his farm two miles east of here.

Authorities said Matulka was buried in a pile of corn. He was taken to a hospital in David City, where he was dead on arrival.

FAKE POSTAGE PROTESTS WAR

Two letters, written by Leigh Dinsmore, a 20-year-old freshman at Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio from Omaha, went through the Post Office with fake stamps saying "War is not healthy for children and other living things." Neither letter was detected. Leigh thinks the whole thing is groovy, while the postmaster said "at Christmas time we don't watch too close for errors."

Omaha First To Pass Open Housing Law

Omaha (UPI) — The Omaha City Council passed on a 5-2 vote an ordinance patterned after the 1969 state open housing law, making Omaha the first city in the state to pass such a law.

The ordinance, which prohibits discrimination in the sale or rental of housing, will go into effect Jan. 8 if it meets the approval of the Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission.

Passage of the measure followed a closed-door meeting with Mayor Eugene Leahy in which a compromise was apparently reached by the five approving members over a section dealing with subpoena powers. The ordinance was amended on a 6-1 vote to allow subpoena powers to the mayor "at the request of the human relations director if the mayor deems the issuance of a subpoena is necessary."

Opponents to the changed version had charged the measure would leave the teeth out of the open housing ordinance.

Councilmen H. F. Jacobberger and Al Veys voted against the open housing ordinance.

New High Recorded For Crops

Nebraska's 1969 crop production was the highest on record, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Wednesday in a year-end appraisal.

Post harvest surveys showed the output was 10% above the previous high set in 1966, and exceeded the 1968 volume by 21 and the 1967 average by 37%. 37%.

Crop production was valued at $946 million, $8 million higher than in 1966 and $171 million above the 1968 figure.

The survey by crop:

Corn — The 434 million bushels produced shattered the previous record of 334 million bushels in 1967. The yield per acre of 93 bushels tops the old record by 13 bushels an acre.

Wheat — The 86-million bushel crop was nearly 16 million bushels below the 1968 output. The yield per acre of 31.5 bushels was the fourth highest on record.

Sorghum — Production of 115 million bushels was the fourth largest on record and the yield at 76 bushels an acre was a record high.

Oats — The yield of 43.5 bushels tied the 1967 record high and the production of 23.8 million bushels was up substantially from the 1968 figure.

Barley — Production totaled 850,000 bushels, the smallest crop since 1911. The yield of 34 bushels per acre was the second highest recorded.

Rye — The production of 2.7 million bushels doubled the 1968 crops. The yield was 19.5 bushels per acre, second only to the 1966 yield.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth, peace, good will toward men. Thus were the shepherds greeted by a heavenly choir on the first Christmas of them all. Not in all the nearly 2,000 intervening years has the spirit of that greeting been diminished.

Much has been added to our celebration of Christmas — much by way of legend and much by way of practice. One of the first legends was that of St. Nicholas, whose namesake is now Santa Claus and whose story was told in The Star's Christmas series this year.

It was a beautiful story of a man who spent his life doing good for others. His compassion and humility were so great that evil was repelled from him in almost miraculous ways, so mystifying his fellow men as to make ardent believers of them.

And this is still the essence of that spirit born so long ago in a stable in Bethlehem — a name now immortalized. It was reportedly in a dream that Lewis H. Redner, just 101 years ago today, conceived the music for the hymn, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

One of the most beautiful hymns of all might well have had the hand of God in its creation. When their church organ broke down, Austrians Rev. Joseph Mohr and Frank Gruber combined on the lyrics and music for a piece created for the guitar. "Silent Night" was first played on Christmas Day in 1818.

And the famous song speaks of "heavenly peace." According to ancient custom, the kiss you give or receive under the mistletoe at Christmas is a "kiss of peace" — the mistletoe, a sign of brotherly love and a kiss to be given for each berry in the spray.

Of course, we have come to make Christmas a time of feasting, since a feast is an expression of celebration. The mince pie you might have is not without its symbolism, its ingredients representing the various gifts of the Magi to the child Jesus.

The Christmas spirit is truly peace — clearly seen by all men since the birth of Christ. And in his human ineptness, man struggles in a constant effort to attain this elusive goal.

And you wonder — why should it be so hard to attain? With the will of God seemingly behind it, why have we not been able to achieve full peace in the centuries that we have looked for it?

Largely because it is a personal thing — not something that can be determined collectively or by a simple majority. It takes only one individual to disrupt the peace of the world or even the peace of your own little community or neighborhood.

That's why it is so important for each and every individual to seek the peace of Christmas in his daily life, not just once a year nor in isolated cases here and there. Peace cannot be acclaimed, but must be established in the hearts and minds of civilized man.

Thus, it calls for an end to human indifference and demands understanding and acknowledgment of some purpose to life other than fulfillment of self. When, in your heart and mind, you see the hungry on your own doorstep, then the seeds of peace have been planted in you.

When, in your own backyard, you see the oppressed millions of the world, then peace has found fertile soil in which to germinate. When you live by the truth as best you can determine it, then peace is nurtured.

And when you speak out for the truth, you have watered the seeds of peace with your words. The spirit of this day is love, is giving to others, is putting aside your animosities and cultivating your oneness with others.

Peace on earth — an old slogan but a meaning that stays as new as tomorrow.

LOUIS CASSELS

Understanding The Miracle Wherein God Became Man

NEW YORK — Once upon a time, there was a man who looked upon Christmas as a lot of humbug.

He wasn't a Scrooge. He was a very kind and decent person, generous to his family, upright in all his dealings with other men.

But he didn't believe all that stuff about an incarnation which churches proclaim at Christmas. And he was too honest to pretend that he did.

"I am truly sorry to distress you," he told his wife, who was a faithful churchgoer. "But I simply cannot understand this claim that God became man. It doesn't make any sense to me."

On Christmas Eve, his wife and children went to church for the midnight service. He declined to accompany them.

"I'd feel like a hypocrite," he explained. "I'd much rather stay at home. But I'll wait up for you."

☆ ☆ ☆

Shortly after his family drove away in the car, snow began to fall. He went to the window and watched the flurries getting heavier and heavier.

"If we must have Christmas," he reflected, "it's nice to have a white one."

He went back to his chair by the fireside and began to read his newspaper.

A few minutes later, he was startled by a thudding sound. It was quickly followed by another, then another. He thought that someone must be throwing snowballs at his living-room window.

When he went to the front door to investigate, he found a flock of birds huddled miserably in the snow. They had been caught in the storm, and in a desperate search for shelter had tried to fly through his window.

"I can't let these poor creatures lie there and freeze," he thought. "But how can I help them?"

Then he remembered the barn where the children's pony was stabled. It would provide a warm shelter.

☆ ☆ ☆

He quickly put on his coat and galoshes and tramped through the deepening snow to the barn. He opened the doors wide and turned on the light.

But the birds didn't come in.

"Food will bring them in," he thought. So he hurried back to the house for bread crumbs, which he sprinkled on the snow to make a trail into the barn.

To his dismay, the birds ignored the bread crumbs and continued to flop around helplessly in the snow.

He tried shooing them into the barn by walking around and waving his arms. They scattered in every direction — except into the warm, lighted barn.

"They find me a strange and terrifying creature," he said to himself, "and I can't seem to think of any way to let them know they can trust me.

"If only I could be a bird myself for a few minutes, perhaps I could lead them to safety."

Just at that moment, the church bells began to ring.

He stood silently for a while, listening to the bells pealing the glad tidings of Christmas.

Then he sank to his knees in the snow.

"Now I understand," he whispered. "Now I see why you had to do it."

Work Ahead For Congress

It all depends on how you look at it, of course, but predictable it was that House GOP leader Gerald Ford could call the 1969 session of Congress a "mark-time, do-little" session and Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield could regard it as "most productive."

At least, the Democratic-controlled Congress will apparently miss out on a special session and vetoes threatened earlier in the session by an angry President who was dissatisfied with congressional output, but who gave legislators a Merry Christmas farewell at adjournment time Tuesday.

Congress was "mark-time, do-nothing," in the indifferent manner in which it passed appropriation bills, most of which were not handed to the President until the fiscal year was half over. The foreign aid bill and appropriation measures for health, education and welfare programs were held over for the final action during the 1970 session, starting Jan. 19. Also scheduled during the next session will be debate on 25 of the President's most important recommendations, including proposals on crime, narcotics, welfare reform, reorganization of the postal system, revenue-sharing with the states and cities, mass transit subsidies and others. It is quite a chore, that facing the 1970 Congress.

But the President was not entirely rebuffed, even considering the Haynsworth nomination. He got his choice for chief justice confirmed easily, the ABM system, extension of the surtax and ratification of the nuclear non-proliferation treaty.

Congress also passed a draft reform bill which permitted the lottery system and a massive tax reform and social security benefit increase bill, the merits of which will take some time to judge although some of the principles of which were almost historic.

It was a productive session in some respects, do-nothing in others. Probably, Congress should have worked harder. It will have to work very much harder in 1970 to clean up the business before it.

A Good Deal . . . But

It's a good deal for the City of Lincoln but the revenue bonds just peddled for 7 per cent interest are a good deal elsewhere, too. With an accompanying 2 per cent discount and the tax exemption enjoyed on the debentures, income to bond holders ought to run somewhere in the neighborhood of 10 per cent.

The bonds were issued to finance two new state office buildings, with the issue to be retired through lease payments by the state. The good deal comes to the city in a very simple way. Because of tax exemption on the bond income, the bonds can be sold at a lower rate of interest. Thus, the city can do some things that it would otherwise find impossible.

It can do the same thing for private industry that it is doing for the state. This is a good deal because it allows for considerable help in the community's efforts to attract new industry. Certainly, attracting new industry is an objective on which there is pretty general agreement.

The one bad thing about the bonds is that they constitute a tax subsidy to the buyers. And as usual, the tax subsidy goes to people who already have a pretty good chunk of this world's goods because they are the ones who can buy the bonds.

Congress turned down proposals for taxing such bonds as these and others but not without considerable thought. The idea persists that by using the federal income tax as a stimulant for various things, we have greatly hampered its effectiveness. One only hopes that we don't some day completely kill the goose that lays our golden eggs.

Discoveries Shed Light On Story Of Christmas; Nativity Site Unchanging Over The Centuries

WASHINGTON — Down through the ages, skeptics have questioned the historical accuracy of the Christmas story, dismissing much of it as pious legend. But new light is now breaking through the mists.

The spade of the archeologist and the research of the scholar have turned up dramatic evidence corroborating the Scriptures.

For centuries, Bible students were troubled over St. Luke's report that the Christ Child was born "when Cyrenius was governor of Syria." The only available records indicated that Cyrenius did not take over as legate to Syria until 6 A.D.

But a fragment of Roman inscription, discovered recently at Antioch, reveals that the Emperor Augustus also sent Cyrenius to Syria on an earlier occasion. He was legate of Syria, according to this new information, between 10 and 7 B.C.

Historians are convinced that the Christian calendar is wrong, that Christ was probably born seven years earlier than the date from which we now reckon our centuries. The mistake in our calendar, attributed to a monk named Dionysius Exiguus, means that the Saviour really was born in 7 B.C. while Cyrenius, as St. Luke said, "was governor of Syria."

Thus the Star of Bethlehem should have appeared in 7 B.C. A few years ago, scholars deciphered some observations of the ancient School of Astrology at Sippar, Babylon, reporting the conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter with the constellation of Pisces in 7 B.C.

The planets moved so close to each other that they appeared from earth to have a rendezvous in space. From the Holy Land, according to mathematical calculations, the conjunction should have looked like one large, brilliant star.

It is also known that Jewish wise men studied at the Sippar school. These ancient astrologers, according to the rabbinical writer Arbarbanel, believed the Messiah would appear when Saturn and Jupiter met in the constellation of Pisces.

It is easy to understand how this celestial event in 7 B.C. might have stirred three wise men to journey from Sippar to Palestine in search of the Christ Child.

The conjunction would have appeared as a single bright star in front of them as they headed south toward Bethlehem. Or, as St. Matthew so vividly relates: "And lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them."

Thus, the Cyrenius of St. Luke's account was governor of Syria at the time of the spectacular conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter over Bethlehem in 7 B.C. — the year many historians believe Christ was born.

☆ ☆ ☆

No visitor to the Holy Lands can escape linking the present with the past, to feel the mighty surge of the New Testament drama all around him.

Christ's boyhood home of Nazareth is a snuggle of clay houses on the hillside, still famous for its carpenters. Some still use the crude tools that Joseph taught Jesus how to handle.

The women still draw their water from the well that has been called Mary's Well for as long as anyone can remember. And donkeys, piled high with burdens, sometimes carrying a mother and child, still clatter down the winding Galilian roadways.

Over the gnarled mountains from Nazareth lies the Sea of Galilee like a great heart-shaped mirror of the sky, little changed since the Lord taught upon its shores. By day, when the water is still, the fleecy clouds drift across its surface. At night, it is a panorama of the heavens.

But its peace can be shattered, as in the Saviour's day, by sudden storms. These are caused by the cool air rushing down from the highlands as the warm, moist air over the lake rises. Then Galilee is lashed to fury, and the fishermen hurry for the shore.

Here and there along the historic shores are crumbling stone piers, which may once have felt the footsteps of Jesus and His disciples. In the proud city of Capernaum, where He began his ministry, He warned sadly: "And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted unto heaven, shalt be brought down to hell."

At the north end of the Sea of Galilee, where the shore curves into a small bay, a few broken stones and pillars rise out of the grass. The shattered columns and strewn stones are all that remain of Capernaum.

The Roman governor during Jesus' ministry, as every Christian knows, was Pontius Pilate. He kept his official residence at Caesarea, then the chief port of Rome's eastern colonies.

Today, archeologists are unearthing Caesarea's ancient ruins in Israel on the banks of the Mediterranean. Among the bleached bones of this proud Roman city, workmen recently dug out a cornerstone upon which were inscribed these words still clearly visible in Latin: "Pontius Pilate, Governor."

Pontius Pilate would have been overlooked by history, except for the dramatic moments he spent in the life of Jesus. St. John describes the scene in these words: "When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he brought Jesus forth, and sat down in the judgment seat, in a place that is called the Pavement, but in Hebrew, Gabbatha."

The Aramaic word "Gabbatha" means "raised ground." In Old Jerusalem, where Christ was brought before Pilate, archeologists have discovered a large flat pavement of nearly 3,000 square yards built in the Roman style of Christ's time. It is located upon a rocky eminence or "raised ground."

Among the disciplies of Jesus was one Thomas, the man of many doubts. There are still many Doubting Thomases in the world today. The Holy Land has yet to yield up all the secrets of its past, but enough has been unearthed to satisfy many men of the authenticity of the Christmas Story.

Divine Guest

Lincoln, Neb.

Thou princely Babe,
Whose birth we celebrate today
In joyous feasting and revelry
With gifts of incense, myrrh and gold
As did the three wise men of old,
Who followed the star along the way
To where the Child in the manger lay
In lowly Bethlehem;

In His manger bed,
Where shepherds came to bring good news —
Angels' decree to inspire, infuse
Wondrous songs of the heavenly host,
Glory and joy to the uttermost —
In David's city this blessed morn
Unto you is a Savior born
With royal diadem.

Thou priceless One,
Thou holiest
Of all the powers that be,
Abide with us
And be our Guest
Through all eternity.

Sign Of Hope

Lincoln, Neb.

Somehow I have the feeling this Christmas season that we are moving a little closer to what it is all about. I have heard more comment this year that we should shed off the materialistic view, and dwell once more upon the blessings and meaning of the holiday season.

More people are shying away from the high-priced gifts and giving things from the heart, and this is how it should be. Christmas is not the glitter of the decorations and the wrappings and the baubles. Slowly, we are learning this, and we can hope that it is not too late for the salvation of mankind.

We must turn again to the meaning of the first Christmas, and all that it meant to the world. It is our only hope.

Circle Of Love

Lincoln, Neb.

The following was written by Mrs. Lena Storz Nootz, 85 years old, a resident of Lincoln for 75 years and now living in Ames, Iowa. Mrs. Nootz is my stepmother.

"First of all, I became aware of love when I experienced the love of my dear parents. Then I found that the more I loved, the more love I had to give to my little brothers and sisters, who formed my first circle of love. Then I noticed there were people who loved me because they loved my loving parents.

"Thus I realized that love begets love, and our circle grew through the blessings of love and good will. If I were to try to count all my friends, it would be almost impossible. There are so many fine people with whom I have traveled through life and I can only say thanks to the Lord for all His love and kindness to us all which has made life so worthwhile.

"May we ever give thanks for the ability to love and appreciate people, for the love of our mates, and the love of our children and many friends. God bless them all at this time and forever.

"May the blessings of love be manifest to all and help each to share them with others, especially the wonderful gift of God's love which He presented to us on the first Christmas."

Half-Truths

Lincoln, Neb.

Many things are linked to the problem of hunger. The largest of these is that ugly old evil known as money. We are supposed to have the most prosperous country in the world, and yet people go hungry. It is a national disgrace because millions and billions of dollars are being spent for foreign aid, space programs and other non-essential things but when it comes to the housing and feeding of the poor and hungry people of our nation, there is no relief.

Not all people who are hungry are on relief rolls nor eligible. They aren't in the bars drinking liquor or smoking, either. Many of them can't find work because of the educational expectations or training given.

Another thing — if people who have available employment but can't find employes would raise the minimum wage scale (and pay it), they wouldn't have much trouble getting help. The workers would have the money to purchase the necessities for their families. What about the employer who pays when he feels the urge and in cash with no receipt for deductions?

What about the myriad number of people who have no ground for planting vegetables or raising livestock or poultry? What about the land-owner who has no knowledge of what to do even though he has the land?

As far as the good old depression years, I remember that many of the government programs were instigated because of the soup kitchens and the bread lines. If our prosperity is so great and we are such great Christians and humanitarians, how come our crime rates, behavior problems and health problems are higher and greater than any other place in the world?

Sometimes I wonder where people get their information, thus providing them with half-truths. They surely can't be writing from experience.

Yes, I know that I'm exploding but I get angry when someone tries to undermine a decent humanitarian program by reverting to those good old days when they weren't so great, after all.

MRS. EVA M. HENLEY

By LA VERNA HASSLER

Merry Christmas to one and all both near and far. I say "far" because I have in mind readers of my column who live in Australia, California and in the next town down the road.

Often when I sit down at the typewriter, sometimes mid-morning, sometimes late at night, I wonder what I will write that will be of interest to my readers. Once in awhile the words will flow and the column seems to write itself. There are times when it is difficult to keep my mind on the words that are to fill an empty page. Just as an artist must fill an empty canvas, a writer must fill an empty page with words to paint a picture or convey a feeling.

After a wearisome day when everything has gone dead wrong or worries multiply by the dozen, it is then I begin my column and secretly wonder who will read my work and find the meaning in it that I have intended. Will my word-pictures flash a scene to someone who has moved far away or will they share my experiences and say, "I know how she feels . . . that same thing has happened to me."

Then along comes a letter from someone who reads my lines, finds some measure of pleasure in them and takes the time to write and tell me so. It is then I touch the stars.

So to those who have taken the time in the past years to write, I must say thank you. It is a delightful way to end an old year.

Permit me to quote from a recent letter from Dr. Edmund C. Jaeger, of California, who says, "I was born in Loup City, Nebr., in 1887 and left for California when I was 12 years old. Pleasant indeed are the memories of my childhood when I roamed the unplowed prairies or wandered along the banks of the Middle Loup River. Reading your most delightful accounts of farm life makes me re-enjoy those wonderful days."

Now, wouldn't you touch the stars, too? Not because I compare with any great writers or ever intend to but because of the humbleness of knowing that those who leave the home place keep hidden in their hearts a nostalgic recollection of the good things in life, a picture of the beauty of our prairie state. I am grateful that as I touch the stars, I can spread a bit of stardust happiness in return.

Nebraska rests under a quiet mantle of snow now, the unplowed prairies long turned and tilled, but it has a certain Christmas card beauty of its own, peaceful and reassuring that all will be well in the new year. It is good to know such serenity and what better time to dwell upon it than the Christmas season?

I am in favor of:

The colorful Christmas lights and decorations that are strung across the streets of our little town, glistening in the sunlight and blinking in the moonlight.

The lacy snowflake medallions that fall on a quiet, gray winter day.

The magic charm of untrodden snow around our farm.

The gentle happiness that halos the face of a young mother as she brings her newborn baby home from the hospital.

Deep solitude shared with dear ones by a warming hearthfire.

Christmas songs that fill the holiday season.

Fruit-cake and suet pudding, sweet and spicy, cooling on the kitchen cupboard.

Toy trains and beautiful dolls, story books and building blocks.

Cooky jars and mid-afternoon snacks.

Old-fashioned quilting parties.

Santa Claus.

Christmas Eve.

The jingling bells of the reindeer team.

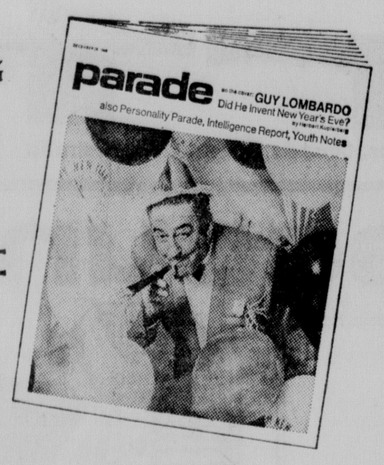
COMING IN PARADE



GUY LOMBARDO: DID HE INVENT NEW YEAR'S EVE?—New Year's Eve would never be the same without the familiar strains of Guy Lombardo's Royal Canadians playing Auld Lang Syne. Parade's Herbert Kupferberg presents an in-depth profile of one of the last survivors of a great musical era who has ushered in the New Year over the airwaves for the past 40 years.

PRESIDENT MARCOS WANTS ANSWERS—On the eve of his inauguration for an unprecedented second term, President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines complains that the Nixon Administration isn't answering the questions he's asking. What are these questions? What are the two principal problems in Asia right now? An old friend of the United States, Marcos speaks his mind on a number of crucial topics in an interview with Editor of Parade Jess Gorkin.

YOUTH NOTES—Now that Yale and Princeton have gone coed, not only are females in large numbers applying for admission, but males also. Parade's Youth Notes reports on this and a number of other interesting trends concerning young people.

SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT—Treating women with fertility drugs is a tricky business. The big problem with the drug is how to produce only one child. Parade's Intelligence Report gives the important facts.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Widow Raised 3 Children Without Help

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "My blood boiled when I read the letter from a woman who was mad because her widowed sister on welfare is being forced to take job training. She admitted her sister was healthy but said she thought this country should support her because she had a nervous disposition and wasn't accustomed to working. Don't you feel we're going down the drain because of people with this kind of mentality? I was widowed 35 years ago and had three small children. There was no welfare and I simply had to go to work and support my brood. I worked as a cleaning woman, later did kitchen work in a bakery, and still later sold vacuum cleaners. Without a penny of welfare I raised the kids, paid off the mortgage, and today have social security earned from by my own efforts."

A. — You have my admiration. It's great hearing of folks who have the gumption to work and solve their own problems without whining and begging. Unfortunately, new social attitudes and liberality of welfare has caused an eroding of ambition and zeal in many quarters. The day may be coming when everyone quits working and starts spending their time at protest meetings demanding a living wage for doing nothing.

Q. — "You occasionally quote letters from older people complaining they are bored, seldom get to meet new friends, and have no clubs to attend. Our local YWCA decided to do something about this by starting a senior citizens club. We put a notice in the paper and sent letters to 35 elders we know. But only a half dozen folks showed up at the first meeting and none wanted to take any responsibility. What did we do wrong?"

A. — You should determine the need for a club before starting one. This can be done by calling together ministers and social workers who deal with elders and getting their opinions. If they feel there's a real need, they should be asked to cooperate by publicizing the formation of the club and seeing to it that elders turn out, providing transportation where necessary. Don't be discouraged by poor attendance at the first few meetings. If there's a need for a club, word will spread and the elders will come.

Q. — "Have you ever been to Appalachia? A close friend of mine from childhood went there to teach school 30 years ago, married a hillbilly, and raised eight kids. We visited them last month for the first time and were appalled — they live in a shack by a mountain stream, raise turnips and pigs, and live like pigs themselves. They admitted they have a total income of only $94 monthly. I told Alice there was no need to live like this — that I would buy her some clothes and we'd help them find a small farm near us in Michigan. But neither she nor her husband would consider it. Are the folks down there crazy?"

A. — Many older folks in Appalachia seem wedded to the area and despite poverty would rather stay than move to more progressive parts of the country offering jobs, improved housing, and better living conditions. You're to be commended for wanting to help your friend, but apparently she likes the hillbilly life, pigs and all.

Enlightened Approaches to Financial Planning

Individuals-Clubs-Organizations-Corporations-Churches-Foundations

People with different investment goals need people who know how to meet those goals. That's where the financial experts at NBC come in. They can shed new light on your savings program. NBC has five basic plans — all tailor-made for pre-cise needs. Whatever your goals, let's talk it over. Your goals will become our goals when you save at the Wonderful World of Banking at the National Bank of Commerce.

DIAMOND PASSBOOK*

NBC's newest savings plan, where you'll earn the highest bank passbook interest rate available. 5% daily interest compounded and paid quarterly. You no longer need thousands of dollars to receive top interest. Minimum initial deposit of $100 and additions in any amount. Withdraw anytime within 10 days of the calendar quarter or on 90 days written notice. You'll receive a handsome passbook and cover as your personal record.

CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT*

These certificates enable you to put funds to work for growth or income at a guaranteed interest rate. A full 5% annual interest that is compounded and paid quarterly, or you may leave it on deposit to earn interest on your interest. These certificates are issued in amounts of $50 or more, with a maturity of three, six or twelve months. NBC also pays the highest bank rates allowable for certificates of deposit.

MONTHLY INCOME PLAN

We will send you an interest check, once a month. This interest check can be mailed to you or we'll deposit your interest in your NBC checking account. Your savings remain intact and you'll receive interest every month. 5% is paid on your savings annually. Minimum deposit of $1000 starts your account.

DEPOSIT	MONTHLY INTEREST
$ 1,000	4.17
10,000	41.67
25,000	104.15
30,000	125.00
35,000	145.81
50,000	208.30

NEW BLUE CHIP CERTIFICATE

For every dollar you invest in 1970, you'll receive two back in 1984. A guaranteed double your money in 14 years, or you may set the year and day when your certificate is to mature. You'll receive 5% interest annually, compounded quarterly and paid at maturity. Minimum initial deposit of $1000. Select any maturity date between 2 and 15 years to suit your tax plans or perhaps your children's education. Interest is deferred until maturity for tax purposes.

HOW YOUR MONEY GROWS

Amt. $1,000

1 yr.	5 yrs.	10 yrs.	14 yrs.	15 yrs.
1,050.94	1,282.04	1,643.61	2,005.03	2,107.18

For anyone needing immediate availability of their savings, NBC pays maximum bank interest of 4% annually in Thrifty-Save accounts.* Interest is paid daily from the date of deposit to the date of withdrawal. You may make withdrawals or deposits in any amount at any time. Also available in a Christmas Savings Account.*

You may arrange automatic deposits from your NBC checking account into your savings account.

Lincoln, Nebraska 68501

Want a question answered? Action on something? Phone or write your request to ACTION LINE, The Lincoln Star or Sunday Journal and Star (see address above), giving your name or initials and town and specifying daily Star or Sunday. Personal contacts or telephone calls to other numbers will be refused. Inquiries not answered daily or Sunday within 30 days will be eliminated to permit publication of more recent inquiries.

If you have a business outside the city and an answering service in town, can you list the business in the telephone directory under the address of the answering service?
—Mrs. Lance, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Without all particulars, the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. could not answer the question for ACTION LINE. Contact the telephone business office and discuss specifics with them.

We take the Lincoln Star, but delivery is so slow. Our paper is never here before 7 a.m. Help. —Thanks, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The Journal-Star Printing Co. circulation department is taking care of the matter. For readers — all queries regarding newspaper circulation can be faster handled if they are directed to Gene Retzlaff of the circulation department.

I would like to know about the restaurant to be on the 20th floor of the new bank building at 13th and M. Will it be open to the public or just for people who work there or what?
—A.H.D., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: A private club will be located on top of the new bank building. The old Intercom Club in the Cornhusker Hotel will take over the new facilities under the name of the Nebraska Club. The area will also house a dining room for use by bank officials.

What is the shut-in mail service by the Lincoln city library system? —Elderly, Lincoln

LIBRARY RATE: Postmaster - this parcel may be opened for Postal inspection if necessary.

ACTION LINE: This is an experimental program begun Dec. 15 by the library system to assist those shut-ins that would like library service and cannot get to the library.

Those desiring service via the mail should contact the Bennett Martin Public Library — 435-2146 — and request an application blank. Soon thereafter shut-in patrons can begin requesting books be mailed.

When the book arrives, there will be a stamped, return envelope to use in mailing the book back to the library. If the program is successful, it will be continued after a six-month trial period.

Sometime ago I read that free legal advice could come from the city. Is this still available?—Mrs. Olga Gallup, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Legal advice on matters that involve the city is available through the city legal department in the County-City Building — 475-5611.

In civil matters, contact the Lincoln Legal Service Society, Lincoln Center Building, Room 409 or phone 435-2161. Attorneys at the legal society offer their services through the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity to persons with incomes below a government-determined level.

Is there a law to prohibit leaving very small children alone in a home? —Protective, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: There is no state or local law regarding the situation you describe. Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas researched the problem and reported that the Legislature did pass LB299 to prohibit leaving children six years or younger unattended in a motor vehicle on the street for longer than 15 minutes.

This law violation is punishable by a fine of up to $300 and-or three months in jail, but the law applies only to cities of more than 5,000 population.

If a parent is leaving children neglected at home for long, sustained periods of time, the Lincoln Police Dept. can be called to investigate the situation.

What do I do with a man that has four children and does not pay child support as he ought to do? —M.V., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Contact the office of the Lancaster County Attorney personally relating the situation or have your private attorney pursue the matter.

Child support as decreed by the court is to be paid. Failure to do so could mean prosecution by the court.

Briton Reported Planning To Blast Foreign Airliner

Bracknell, England (AP) — A court was told that a retired British army captain hoped to earn $72,000, by blowing up a Boeing jet owned by a foreign airline, not identified.

Trefor Owen Williams, 40, was remanded without bail for a week on charges of possessing 11½ ounces of explosive and a timing device for an unlawful purpose.

Prosecutor Peter Barnes said Williams had made a statement amounting to a confession.

Similar charges against a second man were dropped. According to the defense, he agreed to testify.

Trudeau Still Seeking Wife

Ottawa (AP) — Canada's bachelor prime minister, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, said a year ago he might take some initiatives toward matrimony in 1969.

Now at 50 and facing a new year, he told a news conference he took several new initiatives "but none of them really worked out. I'm still hopeful."

$5.6 Million Asked

Geneva (AP) — Red Cross leaders issued an urgent appeal for $5.6 million to finance aid to war victims in Nigeria and Biafra where, they said, "every day brings new and indescribable sufferings."

SIMON'S GATEWAY OPEN FRIDAY NIGHT!

7,000 Children Have Good Time At Elks' Annual Christmas Party

'Twas the day before Christmas, and in through the doors of Pershing Auditorium swarmed 7,000 children and parents for the annual Elks Club Christmas party.

All shapes and sizes of youngsters filled a platform of seats in the center of the auditorium and took up a good many of the grandstand seats as they watched the entertainment and awaited the appearance of the bewhiskered gentleman in the red suit who finally rode a golf cart into the arena at the end of the show.

Candy Distributed

And as the children departed from the auditorium, members of the Elks Club stood at each exit handing out 7,000 sacks of candy and fruit and other goodies.

It was the 62nd year that the Elks had sponsored the party for children in Lincoln, and in the eyes of the Elks it was seen as pretty successful.

Exalted Ruler D. R. Blazek said that the turnout "probably isn't a record crowd but it's bigger than we've had in years."

Blazek said the show, which featured national entertainment of a chimpanzee act and an acrobatic act, cost around $8,000-$9,000, all paid for by Elk club donations.

Volunteers Help

The cost would be higher, he said, but "we get a lot of volunteer help."

Blazek said the Elks got together Tuesday and in mass production fashion stuffed all the 7,000 treat sacks in about half an hour.

Billed on the entertainment portion of the party were the Claytons, an acrobatic group that also performed trick lariat and whip acts, and Sam and the Chimpanzees.

Providing music for the entertainment was the Lincoln Municipal Band, a group of 26 volunteers directed by John Shildneck.

Playing All Along

Shildneck said the band has been performing at the annual function ever since it started and that he has been a part of it himself for 30 years.

Almost as conspicuous as the children were the multitude of Lincoln policemen, sheriff's officers, State Patrolmen and firemen at the show.

Miners Hurt, Killed

Taipei (UPI) — Two miners were killed and 44 were injured in an explosion in a coal mine in suburban- Taipei, police reported. Police said a preliminary investigation indicated sparks from a faulty ventilating machine triggered the gas explosion.

STORY AT LEFT

Urban Interstate Spending Drops

Alliance (UPI) — Spending for the urban portion of Nebraska's Interstate Highway system has slipped to 28.05% of the total state program, according to a report released Wednesday by Greater Nebraska Interstate.

The third quarter 1969 figure compared with 28.9% for the second quarter of the year. The State Highway Advisory Commission has called for spending 26.3% of Interstate Highway funds in urban areas.

The report, by Roy M. Green, a consulting engineer for GNI, showed $205.1 million, or 71.1%, obligated in rural areas and $79.9 million in urban areas. Of the $285,055,915 total for urban work, 39.24% was in Douglas County.

Obligated funds include money for projects which have been completed as well as those in the planning and construction stages.

Green said the cost of the Interstate system in Nebraska was estimated at $348,633,795, of which 27.1% is for urban sections and 72.9% for rural portions.

He said 1960 estimates placed the total cost at $294,925,000, with a 23.1-76.9% urban-rural balance, respectively.

Macdonald Takes Road Department Equal Rights Post

M. L. Nuernberger, director and state engineer of the Nebraska Department of Roads, has announced the appointment of James H. Macdonald, 58,

JAMES H. MacDONALD Receives New Duties

district engineer at Ainsworth, as equal employment opportunity director and emergency planning coordinator for the department effective Jan. 1, 1970.

Macdonald's new duties are to enforce compliance by contractors with the requirements of state statutes, federal civil rights acts, and presidential orders assuring equal employment opportunities to all Nebraska citizens.

He will also coordinate emergency planning activities within the Roads Department in the event of natural disaster or foreign-induced calamity.

Vance L. Butler, presently assistant district engineer at Ainsworth, will replace Macdonald, but will come under the general supervision of the Norfolk district engineer following the reorganization of districts.

Veterans Must Report Income Before Jan. 15

Lancaster County Veterans' Service officer Denzel A. Dawson has announced that income questionnaires must be completed and returned to the Veterans' Administration not later than Jan. 15, 1970.

The questionnaire, sent to over 18,000 Nebraska veterans, widows, and parents currently receiving benefits, is required before the January check can be released.

Lancaster County residents can avail themselves of the aid of the Veterans' Service office, located in the County-City Building, in completing their questionnaires.

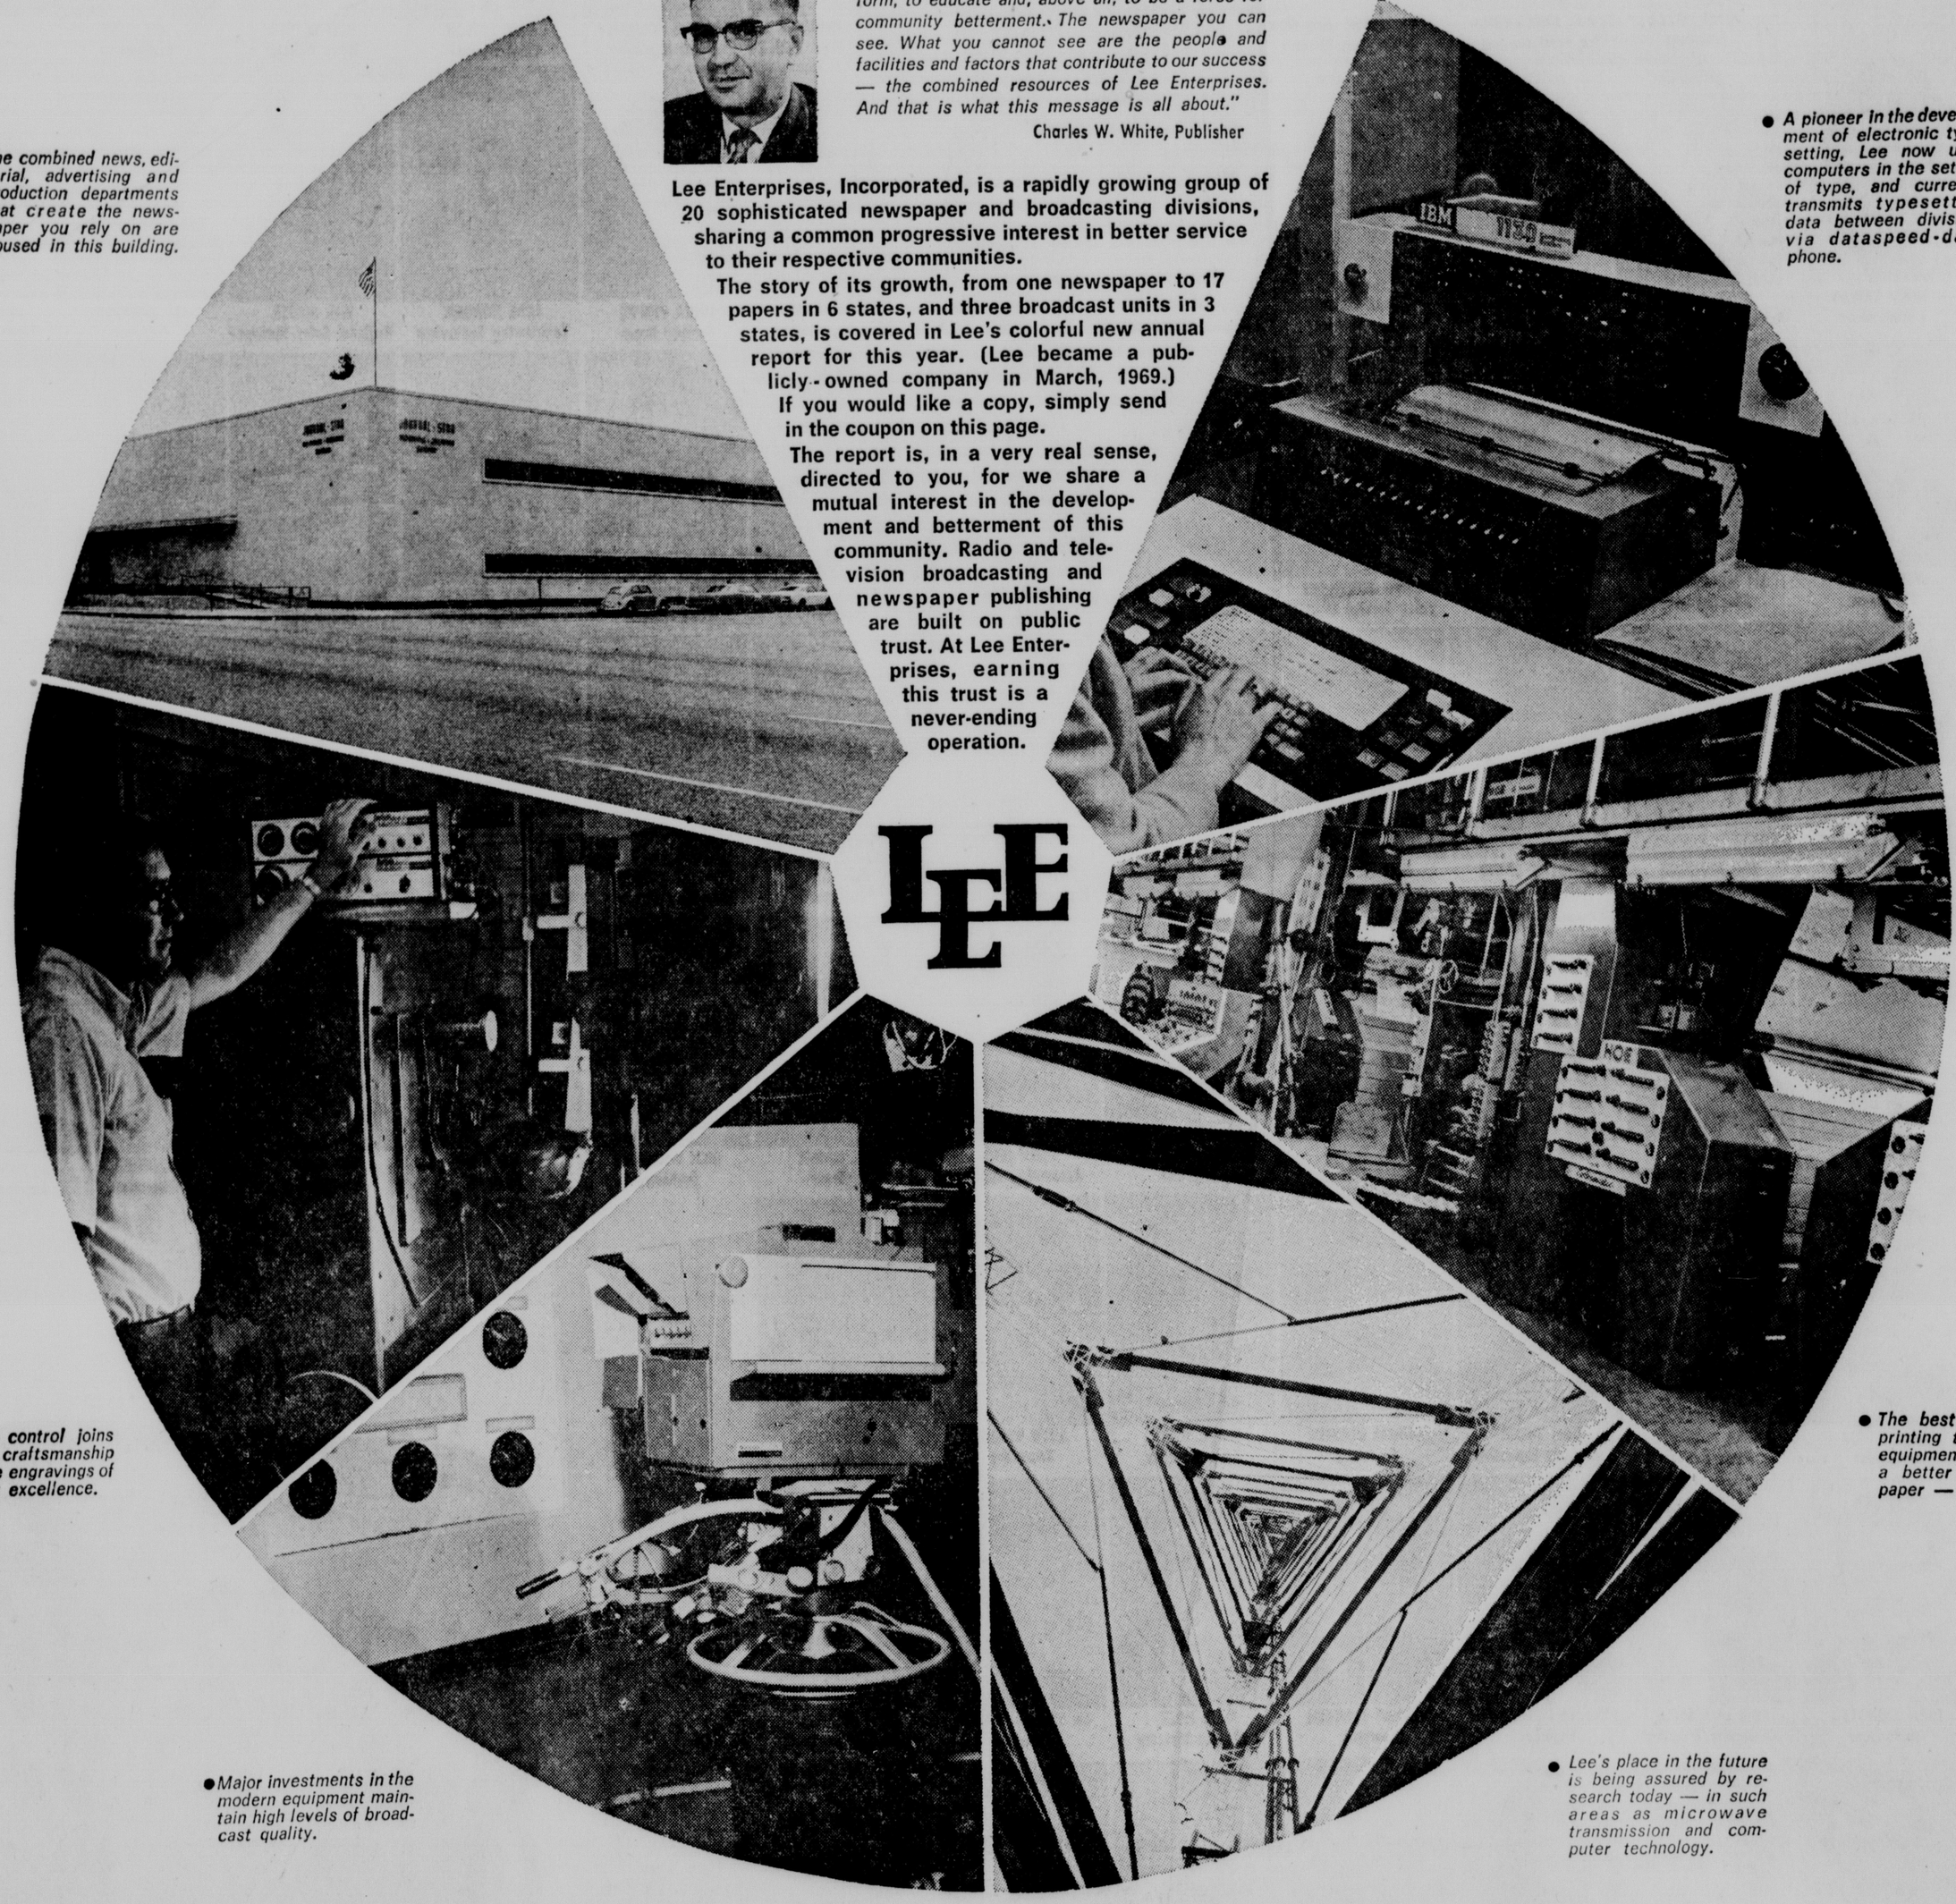
"We strive always through our newspaper to inform, to educate and, above all, to be a force for community betterment. The newspaper you can see. What you cannot see are the people and facilities and factors that contribute to our success — the combined resources of Lee Enterprises. And that is what this message is all about."

Charles W. White, Publisher

Lee Enterprises, Incorporated, is a rapidly growing group of 20 sophisticated newspaper and broadcasting divisions, sharing a common progressive interest in better service to their respective communities.

The story of its growth, from one newspaper to 17 papers in 6 states, and three broadcast units in 3 states, is covered in Lee's colorful new annual report for this year. (Lee became a publicly-owned company in March, 1969.) If you would like a copy, simply send in the coupon on this page.

The report is, in a very real sense, directed to you, for we share a mutual interest in the development and betterment of this community. Radio and television broadcasting and newspaper publishing are built on public trust. At Lee Enterprises, earning this trust is a never-ending operation.



The combined news, editorial, advertising and production departments that create the newspaper you rely on are housed in this building.

A pioneer in the development of electronic typesetting, Lee now uses computers in the setting of type, and currently transmits typesetting data between divisions via dataspeed-dataphone.

Electronic control joins seasoned craftsmanship to produce engravings of consistent excellence.

Major investments in the modern equipment maintain high levels of broadcast quality.

The best in newspaper printing techniques and equipment assures you a better quality newspaper — faster.

Lee's place in the future is being assured by research today — in such areas as microwave transmission and computer technology.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

by B. Jay Becker

(Top Record-Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play)

'Twas the night before Christmas—
Two guests in our house
Had started to play bridge
With me and my spouse.

"Please tell me," she shouted,
"Why didn't you double?
'Twas plain from the start
That we had them in trouble."

" 'Tis futile, my dear,"
Said I, taking no stand,
"To discuss it with you—
Let us play the next hand."

"Remember next time,"
Said she, icing a frown,
"To double a contract That's sure to go down."

So I picked up my cards
In a downtrodden state,
Then I opened One Spade
And awaited my fate.

East dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

The guy sitting South
Was like many I've known;
He played and he bid
In a world all his own.

"Two diamonds," he countered
With scarcely a care;
The ace in his hand
Gave him courage to spare.

My wife, she smiled faintly,
And tossing her head,
Leaned over the table:
"I double," she said.

And North, for some reason
I cannot determine,
Bid Two Hearts as though
He were preaching a sermon.

I grinned as I doubled,
Enjoying the fun,
And turned round to South
To see where he would run.

But South, undistressed,
Not at loss for a word,
Came forth with Two Spades—
Did I hear what I heard?

The other two passed
And in sheer disbelief
I said, "Double, my friend,
That'll bring you to grief."

South passed with a nod,
His composure serene;
My wife with a flourish
Led out the heart queen.

I sat there and chuckled
Inside o'er their fix—
But South very calmly
Ran off eight straight tricks!

He ruffed the first heart
In his hand right away,
And then trumped a club
On the very next play.

He crossruffed the hand
At a breathtaking pace,
Till I was left holding
Five spades to the ace.

In anguish my wife cried,
"Your mind's growing old!
Don't you see six notrump
In this hand is ice cold?"

By doubling this time
I'd committed a sin—
It just goes to prove
That you never can win.

Those Flabby Muscles

Josephine Lowman

In all areas of life it is becoming more and more apparent that activity is essential. We rust out quicker than we wear out.

Muscles become flabby if they are not exercised and our minds become dull unless we use them vigorously. Studies have shown that those who remain youthful into later years have exercised their minds all through their lives.

Stimulation is an important factor in health and beauty and also in happiness. We need to dust off our hearts by really caring about someone or something, with inspiring books or art or music, with becoming aware of the beauty about us. Our hearts need caring for if they are not to become bogged down with indifference.

Even the skin profits by stimulation of circulation. You can do this by gently patting the face or with facial exercises or by lying with your head lower than your feet and hips. Circulation creams which whip up the blood will help correct a sallow or goose pimply neck. General body exercises which send the blood zooming to all parts of the anatomy are also beautifying to the skin.

The late Dr. C. Ward Crampton, distinguished gerontologist, believed that we should even exercise the liver. This is one he taught me and he used to say, "This is worth more than five dollars every time you do it."

This is how. Lie on the bed or on the floor on your back. Keep your entire back and hips on the floor while you push your abdominal muscles up toward the ceiling, as high as you can. Now pull your abdominal muscles down toward the floor. Continue with this bellows-like motion. This gives the liver many good squeezes.

Dr. Crampton's prescription was twenty-five times morning and night. There is no doubt that stagnation is the most harmful of all habits. Let's keep moving!!

If you would like to get Mrs. Lowman's beauty routine which she has worked out for best health, send for "Essential Daily Routine for Beauty and Health." Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and mail to Josephine Lowman in care of the Lincoln Star.

It's New

For that busy business man who flits off at frequent intervals to New York, to Washington D.C., to anywhere and everywhere on the west coast, fate has been kind.

Every well groomed business man wears hat — and a hat can be a problem, but from now on it needn't be.

We have just learned of a brand new hat for men called 'Travel Pak.

There is something new in the news for the homemaker, too. This is called the Ultrasonic Cleaner and it really is the first new home appliance in years.

It doesn't make a sound, but it does its cleaning with sound waves. It cleans hundreds of things from potato peelers to small engine parts. The ultrasonic scrubbing can penetrate in accessible crevices and corners, remove deeply lodged soils and stains such as tarnish from silver, lipstick from glassware and dirt from combs and brushes. It cleans jewelry, paint brushes, golf clubs and watch bands.

The Ultrasonic Cleaner removes dirts you can't see from places you can't reach, with sound you can't hear.

Who knows? Someday there may be ultrasonic toothbrushes, shavers, and other work-saving home appliances.

ABBY

a nice Polish custom

DEAR ABBY: Paying to dance with the bride was an old Polish tradition, ruined by modernization.

Try to imagine a wedding in a Polish village a hundred years ago. The bride wore a peasant blouse and a colorful full skirt. All she had to distinguish her as the bride was a bouquet of flowers and a wedding veil — both gifts from the groom.

After the ceremony, the bride removes her veil and dons a "babushka" (kerchief) signifying that she is no longer a maid, but a matron. Her wedding veil is then "sold." Only eligible bachelors are allowed to participate in this. As each bachelor dances with the bride, he "pays" for the dance with a coin collected in a china plate. The bachelor who breaks the plate with his coin "wins" the veil for his future bride.

Guests did not bring elaborate gifts to weddings in those days. They brought a bottle of wine, or a home-made pastry to add to the festivities. Thus the money from the "dance" and the sale of the veil was the only start the newlyweds had.

My grandmother had such a wedding. Her mother gave her a wooden mixing bowl which was her only wedding gift. She was lucky, there were 17 bachelors in her village so she and Grandpa had $17 to start their marriage with, plus a wooden mixing bowl.

I suppose the tradition should be done away with, since it's now lost its meaning. But it was a lovely custom, wasn't it?

A POLE FROM PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR POLE: Yes, and what a refreshing relief from all those sick Polish jokes so suddenly popular.

DEAR ABBY: I always considered the "CONFIDENTIALS" in your column a waste of time, until I read "CONFIDENTIAL TO LOST FAITH IN CHICAGO".

I lost my only brother in Vietnam a few months ago, and I had also lost faith as he was a wonderful boy, and an only son.

Your lesson in faith has certainly helped me a lot. My faith has been restored. Thank you so much.

THANKFUL

DEAR THANKFUL: And thank you for your kind letter. For those of you who missed that "confidential," here it is: Perhaps a lesson in faith can be illustrated in this way: A mother had just received word that her only son had been killed in Vietnam. He was a bright, handsome man of 22. Her pastor tried vainly to console her in her grief.

"Where was your God when my only son was killed?" she cried.

"The same place He was when His only son was killed," the pastor quietly replied.

Symphony Orchestras Face A Money Crisis

BY HAROLD C. SCHONBERG
(c) New York Times Service

New York — A few weeks ago Amyas Ames, president of the New York Philharmonic, made the opening address at the president's meeting of United States Symphony Orchestras. Ames did not beat about the bush. "We meet today in Crises," were his opening words. Bang.

Ames' gloomy survey is worth a close perusal.

He started by saying that there has been a measure of financial accomplishment, in that the 60 orchestras which received Ford Foundation matching grants in 1966 have already raised 60 per cent of the total. But the expenses of the 88 principal American Symphony Orchestras, totaling $66 million, have more than doubled in the last five years, "and are estimated to increase another 300 per cent in the next four years to $87 million." For this there are many reasons. Inflation. Higher salaries for musicians. Longer seasons (the longer the season, of course, the bigger the loss; symphony orchestras and opera houses, as we all know by now, are deficit operations).

Yet the number of seats in a concert hall cannot be increased, nor can ticket prices be raised. Already prices are much too high. As it is, the income from ticket sales, "which paid for close to two-thirds of costs in 1963, is estimated to pay for only 46 per cent of expenses in 1972." Private enterprise no longer can keep pace. "There is clear evidence that the giving by individuals does not keep up with inflating costs and may even be sharply restricted by changes in the tax laws." Ames is referring to the tax reform bill, now in the Senate. One of the reforms will curtail the activities of the big Foundations annd philanthropists.

In 1963, the total loss of the 88 principal orchestras was only $170,000. As Ames says, that is "digestible." In 1968, this loss had grown to over $5 million and in 1972 the anticipated loss will be over $13 million.

That may sound like a big sum. But, as many writers on culture have been insisting for years, it is peanuts. In these days of big numbers — $30 billion annually for the Vietnam War, $3 billion for the space program, and so on — it is a laughably minute amount. In Congress, it would not even be a respectable boondoggle. Or, to look at it another way, the United States is spending $90 million a day on the Vietnam War.

Ames' comparison is more modest. He points out that the financial problem of all 88 leading American symphony orchestras is about the cost of one-half of one modern traffic interchange." He cites Hawthorne Circle, north of New York City, which is just being completed at a cost of $25 million. And, says Ames, those funds were appropriated without difficulty — "almost twice the amount needed to rescue all the symphony orchestras in the country for a full year. This is just one traffic circle in one city — a minor fraction of the total annual appropriation for such work in this country."

Need one belabor the point? As I have been saying in this column, our priorities are crazy. Ames, a respected banker, would never put it that bluntly. "We are dealing here with an important question of priorities."

"An important question of priorities," he merely said. He then took a look at government subsidies overseas, pointing out that the orchestras of Munich, Berlin, Amsterdam and the Hague are all given annual subsidies of $1.2 million each. An equivalent situation obtains in other European cities. Such comparisons with American orchestras, Ames rightly noted, is not exact, "but the spirit is very much the same."

What to do?

Ames suggests a fourfold program. Three of his four points are not new Those involve developing a sense of higher priority for individual donors to American orchestras; raising the priority for the arts in business and industry; a program of ongoing or at least emergency support from Foundations. But the last point is new, and that is a direct plea to federal, state, country and city governments for support.

Most presidents and trustees of symphony orchestras are industrialists and other people in the upper financial stratum of American society. Up to now most of them have loathed the idea of any kind of government subsidy. That would be creeping socialism or something even woree. But, little by little, even the conservatives are realizing that perhaps there is no other way out. And so on Nov. 23 came an announcement from the ad hoc committee-of-the-whole of the presidents of symphony orchestras. "Presidents or board chairmen of 77 leading American symphony orchestras," it started out, "have agreed to take the unprecedented action of requesting the federal government to supplement local private and public funding in order that America's symphony orchestras may continue to operate.

Appropriations would be channeled through the national endowment for the arts. Orchestras would be eligible for federal aid only if they maintain a high level of earnings and locally contributed support. The orchestras would have to match whatever they were given in federal funds, and the matching grants would be made only on an emergency basis — that is, "only to meet actual cash income gaps." Based on 1968-69 figures, the proposed aid program would need a federal grant of $5.2 million, and the projected figure for 1970-71 would be $8.5 million.

That is little enough, in all certainty, and may be excessively modest. If the minuscule sum of $8.5 million will take care of the immediate financial pressures of all the major American orchestras, what would $25 million do? The point is to have enough money to remove orchestras from the absolute slavery of the box office, so that occasional adventures in repertory can take place, or programs for the young, or a burgeoning-out in general rather than a grim handhold on the status quo. Strange how big all industrialists think when it comes to business, and how small they think when it comes to art. So let's have one less traffic circle in the United States next year, and use the money to save all of our major orchestras.

MISS LYNN ENGELBRECHT

Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Herbert C. Engelbrecht make announcement this morning of the engagement of their daughter, Lynn, to John M. Zajicek, son of Judge and Mrs. Eugene C. Zajicek of Wilber.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, June 6, and the ceremoney will be solemnized at St. Matthews Church, Episcopal.

Miss Engelbrecht is a junior at Kearney State College where she is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

Mr. Zajicek completed his pre-dental studies at Kearney State College and now is a freshman in the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry. His fraternity is Alpha Tau Omega.

Town Talk

There is endless excitement at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lawrie this holiday season — First, Mr. Lawrie's mother, Mrs. Edd Lawrie of Portland, Ore., arrived for the holidays — but everyone knows about that. We're sure that everyone also expected Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Baldwin home from Arizona in time for the holidays — and everyone knows, we're sure, that Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin are the parents of Mrs. Tom Lawrie.

But what no one knew — not even the members of the Lawrie family — was that Dr. and Mrs. Russell Gustafson (Peggy Lawrie) and their two children, Lee and Anne, would walk in unannounced on Tuesday. But they did — to the great surprise of Mrs. Gustafson's brother and sister-in-law, and her mother.

Dr. and Mrs. Gustafson and their children are making Hotel Cornhusker their headquarters and since they plan to remain in Lincoln until after Jan. 1. That means, of course, that their friends will be keeping them on the hop, skip and jump between now — and then. Just in case there is someone who doesn't know — Dr. Gustafson resided in Lincoln for many years, and was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of medicine. His father, you may remember, was the Chancellor of the University of Nebraska. Mrs. Gustafson also was graduated from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Phi.

* * *

There is no generation gap when it comes to guests — For example, last Friday Susan, Linda and Charlie Weber arrived from Chicago to spend the holidays with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Healey. The young Webers are in Lincoln while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Weber (Janet Healey) are in the Bahamas. Mr. and Mrs. Weber, however, will come to Lincoln in time to spend New Year's Eve with their family. During their brief stay Mr. and Mrs. Weber also will visit Mr. Weber's mother, Mrs. Vera Weber.

Finally, 1969 has rolled its course, and in the words of Sir Walter Scott, "brought blithe Christmas back again, with all his hospitable train." The hospitable train of Christmas traditions described by the Scottish poet have not really changed so much from the days of chivalry to the Space Age. Christmas would not be Christmas without holly, mistletoe, and savory game on the table, even if wild boar hunts and masquers have disappeared from the scene. But, in any century, it is being able to celebrate with the people you love that makes this day so special.

This is a really special Christmas for Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Boswell of South Hills, since it is the first one in two years they will spend with their son-in-law, daughter, and four grandsons. Dr. and Mrs. Dale Flowerday, Charles, Stanley, Kenneth, and Richard, spent awo years in Colombia, S.A., where Dr. Flowerday was associated with the AID program carried out by the University of Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service.

Mr. and Mrs. Darl James will spend an extra special Christmas in Chariton, Iowa, where they will welcome Mr. James' brother, Sp. 4 Vernon James, home from Vietnam. Mr. and Mrs. James will be guests of Mr. James' mother Mrs. Hazel James, and Mrs. James' mother, Mrs. Martha Arnold.

Also in Iowa for Christmas are Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Stephens, who are visiting Mrs. Stephens' parents (and former Lincoln residents) Mr. and Mrs. Asa Smith of Glenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hempel will be at home for Christmas, celebrating the day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Pitstick of Nebraska City.

And going to Nebraska City for the day are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Heng, who will visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Barrett and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heng.

Also spending today out of town are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Svendson who are visiting Mrs. Svendson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Mosemans, and Mr. Svendson's mother, Mrs. Marie Svendson, all of Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. David White have house guests from western Nebraska for the holiday, —Mr. White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Pflaum of North Platte.

A special visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Halter home is Capt. Steve Halter, home from Washington, D.C., to spend Christmas with his parents. Lt. Ken Halter, the second Halter son, will arrive home shortly from Ft. Hood, Tex., where he is a maintenance officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Prochazka are in Wilber today, spending the holiday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Houska and Dr. and Mrs. John Prochazka. Looking back, the Prochazkas did some early Christmas celebrating in Wilber on Dec. 16, when they attended a party at the home of Dr. Robert Travnicek and his mother Mrs. Arline Travnicek.

Grandma, Mrs. Amanda Evans, has come from Stromsburg to spend Christmas with the William Sommer family in Eastmont. Also here for the holiday festivities are Mr. and Mrs. Sommer's son-in-law and daughter, Lt. and Mrs. Robert Kyle and their daughter, Kerri of El Paso, Tex.

Having a family dinner today are Mr. and Mrs. Adam Blanchard. Their guests will include Mrs. Blanchard's brothers-in-law and sisters and their families: Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ratliff, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Oberg, Wayne and Cheryl, and Mrs. Edna Botzenhart.

Much as we hate to look beyond the festivities of this day, we should mention that Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Rudolph will be leaving their Pine Lake home tomorrow for what she laughingly calls a vacation from the children. Really, the Rudolphs will be attending the American Law School Convention in San Francisco this weekend. Mr. Rudolph is a professor of law at the University of Nebraska.

MISS SUSAN WITZEL

The engagement of Miss Susan Witzel of Lincoln, daughter of Robert Witzel of Dwight, to Ken Bohuslavsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bohuslavsky, also of Dwight, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's father.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, June 27.

Miss Witzel is careering in the offices of the Bankers Life Insurance Co., in Lincoln.

Mr. Bohuslavsky is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska where he is majoring in agricultural education.

Bridal Attendants

Among the many bridal courtesies for Miss Gloria Adams, whose marriage to Sandy J. Middlebrooks, Jr., will be an event of Saturday, Dec. 27, was a party at the home of Mrs. C. O. Sheppard, on Friday, Dec. 12. During the afternoon, the guests presented Miss Adams with a kitchen shower.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Paul Adams, has chosen her sister, Miss Doris Adams, as her honor attendant. The bridesmaids will be Miss Gwendolyn Dennard of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Brenda Partridge of San Francisco, Calif. Miss Debbie Middlebrooks of Cleveland, Ohio, sister of the bridegroom, will be the junior bridesmaid.

Miss Melanie Fields of Leavenworth, Kan., will be the flowergirl for the 6 o'clock wedding, to be solemnized at St. Paul United Methodist Church.

Serving Mr. Middlebrooks as best man will be his brother, Joseph D. Middlebrooks of Cleveland, Ohio. Groomsmen will include Michael Adams, brother of the bride-elect, Roger Pennington of Cleveland, Ohio, and David Gearring of Gary, Ind. Ozzie Clark of Winston-Salem, N.C., and Maj. Clinton Fields of Leavenworth, Kan., will be the ushers.

Making announcement this morning of the members of her wedding party is Miss Connie J. Alexander whose marriage to Pvt. Thomas W. Sundling will be an event of Saturday afternoon, Dec. 27.

Miss Alexander has named Miss Debbie Jo Craig as her maid of honor.

Douglas Sundling will serve his brother as best man, and Doug Stunkel and Robb Hoffman will seat the guests.

Miss Terry Sue Sundling will be the flower girl; and lighting the chancel candles for the 2 o'clock ceremony which will be solemnized at the Vine Congregational Church, will be Rocky Sundling and Miss Denise Stunke of Ansley.

Group To Meet

The January meeting of the Engineering Student Wives will be held on Monday evening, Jan. 12. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock in room 206, Richards Hall on the University of Nebraska campus; and a representative of First Mid-America Inc. will present a program on stocks and bonds.

MISS SUSAN VALLIS

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Vallis of the engagement of their daughter, Susan Elizabeth, to Alden L. Peterson of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Peterson of Mason City.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, April 4.

The bride is careering in Lincoln.

Mr. Peterson is a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University where he is a member of Zeta Psi fraternity.

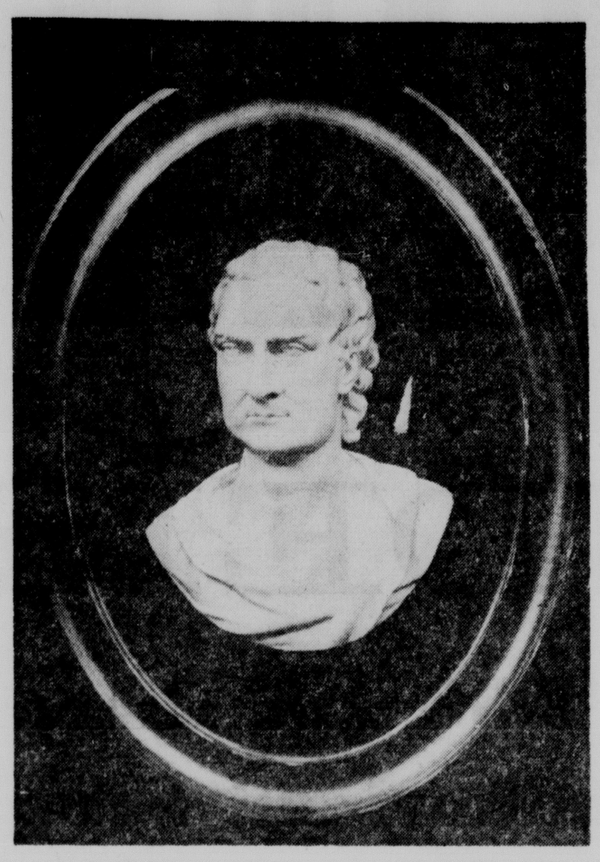
Know Your Antiques



Happy birthday to Sir Isaac Newton, the famed Englishman pictured on this Wedgewood and Bentley jasper ware plaque. Sir Isaac was born on December 25, 1642 but this picture in pottery was not made until about 1777.
(Buten Museum of Wedgewood, Merion, Pa.)

BY RALPH AND TERRY KOVEL

Jasper ware was the wonderful invention by Josiah Wedgwood in 1774. It gave the world a stoneware that was beautiful and adaptable. Jasper was a colored stoneware made of light straw or gray-white color, and later of green, blue, lavender, yellow, or black. Jasper ware is still being made by the Wedgwood factory. Thousands of different pieces such as ashtrays, bowls, vases, and jewelry cameos are being made.

The finest jasper was made from about 1780 to 1795. It was at that time that new designs were created for the material. Cameos, seals, portraits, plaques, beads, buttons, tablewares, and many larger decorative pieces were made.

The portrait plaques were of great interest. They featured important figures in history or legend. Some of the larger plaques were set into fire place mantels during the Adams period. The smaller ones were used in jewelry.

Q. Are there any reproductions of antique occupational shaving mugs?

A. There are many copies of the expensive mugs that pictured the occupations of the working man of Victorian days. The fire engine, the doctor's bag, old cars, and many other popular types are being made.

The early mugs were made by hand-painting the design and the owner's name on the mug. Some had a black and white transfer decoration on the mug that was later hand-painted. Many of the new mugs are made using a decal decoration that looks very different from the hand-painted versions. Only a few of the reproductions are hand-painted. Be careful!

BOOK REVIEW

The period preceding Art Nouveau has been neglected by authors until the new book "The Aesthetic Movement" by Aslin. The 1855-1885 art featuring the sunflower, lily and peacock, strongly influenced the later artists. A handsome, beautifully illustrated, interesting book.

Do You Know?

That—

Christmas was celebrated on various dates before Bishop Liberius of Rome, in the year 350, appointed December 25 as Christmas Day. Research by LaVaughn Wangler, curator of the Hallmark Historical Collection, reveals that early Dutch settlers in New York celebrated Christmas on Dec. 6. Even today, many members of the Eastern Orthodox Church observe Jan. 6 as Christmas Day.

And did you know that the observance of Christmas was once banned by law in both England and America.

In 1643 the Puritans in England prohibited the celebration of Christmas, even in churches, by act of Parliament, because they felt the celebrations disserved the true meaning of the day. Colonists in New England followed suit in 1659, passing a law that declared "Anybody found feasting or observing Christmas Day in any way shall pay a fine of five shillings." This law was finally repealed in 1681.

Do you know the story of Santa?

The legend of Santa Claus, his reindeer and his chimney-climbing habits has ancient origins. St. Nicholas, a kindly bishop in Asia Minor during the A.D. 300's, was adopted as the patron saint of children and the spirit of Christmas by the people of Holland. His name in Dutch was Sinter Niklaas, which later became Santa Claus. The belief that Santa has a reindeer-drawn sleigh and enters houses through the chimney comes from Scandinavia. It developed from an old Norse legend about the goddess Hertha, who rode on a reindeer's back. Her appearance in the fireplace in mid-winter brought good luck to the home.

Christmas Cards?

Americans will send or receive more than four billion Christmas cards this year, according to researchers. More of these will feature religious themes and the subject of peace than in previous years, but the most popular designs this season are still the traditional ones — Santas, Christmas trees, holly, snow scenes, wreaths, Christmas bells and ornaments.

In all corners of the globe the exchange of holiday greeting cards is a common custom. Market researchers say that people in more than 77 countries send greeting cards, and Christmas is the most popular season of all. Even in Latin America, where the Christmas weather is the opposite of that in the United States, the traditional designs of the season, including snow scenes, are used on Spanish-language greetings.

This year marks the 94th anniversary of Christmas cards in the United States. The first American cards were made by a German immigrant, Louis Prang of Roxbury, Mass. in 1875.

Shirt Tales—Right Out Of London

(C) New York Times Service

BY STEPHEN HIGGINSON

(Dispatch of The Times, London)

London — There was a time (and occasionally there still is a place) where the sight of a man in his shirt sleeves was almost obscene. The shirt has taken a long time to shake off its undergarment origins. It has now elbowed its way to the front and is an item of apparel in its own right. It has become a fashion garment. Men who wear colored shirts are not cads; merely natty neophytes to a brighter world.

"The whole thing is bursting around us, there are no taboos except poor taste." Peter Golding, one of Britain's top menswear designers should know. He not only designs and sells a range of his own shirts, but he is a consultant designer to the second biggest shirt company in the world — Philip Van Heusen of America.

Golding, who aims to "blend fashion excitement with reality" was instrumental in slipping us into Indian madras cotton shirts a few years back. He is now using finer cottons and voiles and his new "stallion" range is in cotton jersey — doubtless this will give shape to another trend.

Golding's shirt range is in fact the quintessence of what we can expect from shirts in 1970. Strong plain colors — including green, jacquards, fine cotton voiles and batistes and cotton jersey. The styles are soft, with button cuffs, long pointed collars and a body cut very mean, with pleats and darts.

"The trend is light, light, light," I was told again at Carston Shirts — a company which markets its own range and also makes up for many leading shops and stores.

"Voile and batistes have been a tremendous trade — all in very bright colors — lemon, chocolate, and rose. Stripes are a big vogue for the 1970s, too; variegated and stripes-on-stripes. White shirts are getting fewer and even dress shirts are like day shirts, it is incredible. We think a certain amount of shirts will be worn outside the trousers and of course we do everything slim fitting — even up to 16½ collar."

In fact the top end of the trade has been quick to adopt the youthful colors and body-hugging style. At Le Roi they started the "slim-trend range a year ago, and the more formal styles they describe as "far less voluminous than they used to be." Softer collars with more spread in the Le Roi look. Apple green is their most exciting new color. "It has been very well received and will definitely continue into next season."

Le Roi also makes fine dress shirts, and blue has become fully established as a second color for evening — "blue, lavender, pink and gold in that order."

The feeling for Jacquard designs for shirts has allowed for the introduction of "burnt-out" patterns in polyester-cotton mixtures. In these, the self-colored design is achieved by etching the cotton away with a chemical. The result is a semi see-through look which will be much in evidence next year.

Those other well known purveyors of shirts to the "conservative masses" Van Heusen — have had dramatic results with a new range of patterned colorful shirts. "It has taken our breath away. We sold in two days what we expected to sell in six months, and we were down on our knees to the fabric suppliers for more!"

As with other manufacturers, Van Heusen no longer confines the slim-cut shirts to the younger looking styles and remarks on the "tremendous resurgence of the button-down collar — five times the demand we had before."

Meanwhile, cotton voiles and stripes are the story, together with ties and shirts in clashing colors and designs; a paisley tie and striped shirt is one example. "We want to get out of stripes, but we can't because of demand. We are not contriving them, but making them more and more classical." For evenings, Turnbull and Asser are pushing pastels — with big soft floppy matching bows; frills are being ironed out of the range chiffons for an up-and-coming genre — the "party shirt."

Another attempt to civilize the party shirt for a more elegant market has been made by Edward Lloyd who, as a consultant, also designs shirts for Austin Reed's "summit" range. Inspired by fabrics which he saw in Switzerland, he has used fine cottons and silk in splendid combinations of honey and black, some navy and white and a new copper color.

$802,813 Legal Fees, Alioto Says

San Francisco, Calif. (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto said Wednesday he paid $530,400 to then State Atty. Gen. John O'Connell of Washington and $272,413 to one of O'Connell's assistants for helping his law firm as attorneys to win a $16-million antitrust suit in that state.

Alioto told a news conference O'Connell had been hired by several public utility districts in Washington ''outside his capacity as attorney general to manage and control the cases'' for them against major electric equipment firms.

Alioto was an antitrust lawyer at the time of the case, before he was elected mayor.

Free To Accept

He said, "He, O'Connell and his assistant, under Washington state law, were free to accept private practice, and the utility districts from the very outset of the cases provided a retainer for them."

The case ran from 1962 to settlement in 1967. The payments to O'Connell and his assistant were made from 1965 to 1967, Alioto said.

Alioto said he paid O'Connell $530,400.50 and O'Connell's special assistant George Faler $272,413.66 from the $2.3 million fee received for winning the case.

File Distributed

Alioto said he also made payments to law firms in San Francisco and to others private attorneys for their help in the case.

Alioto represented 15 public utility districts and municipal utilities and the state of Washington when they sued a number of manufacturers of electrical supplies

Alioto's firm was retained by O'Connell in 1962 to handle the matter. Alioto originally was to have received a fee of $1 million, but O'Connell changed it to 15 per cent of the settlement.

Goal Topped In Salvation Army Drive

The Salvation Army Tree of Lights kettle campaign Wednesday surpassed its goal of $10,000, including money collected on downtown street corners and mail contributions, according to Mrs. Vivian Burggraf of the Salvation Army Citadel and Welfare Service.

The exact figures for total contributions, manpower and man-hours volunteered have not been tabulated, but should be released next week, Mrs. Burggraf said.

The annual drive began Nov. 28, the day after Thanksgiving, to raise money to provide Christmas gifts for inmates of the State Penal Complex and Reformatory and their children, residents of the State Hospital and nursing homes, and needy families.

Every inmate of the correctional institutions received a duffel bag containing various grooming and clothing items as a Christmas gift, and were given the opportunity to select a toy for each minor child, to be delivered to the child just before Christmas.

More than 150 needy families received Christmas grocery orders, negotiable at the grocery store of their choice. The money orders enabled the families to select their own Christmas food, and saved the Salvation Army many valuable hours of preparation and delivery, Mrs. Burggraf said.

Manson Wins Right To Act As Attorney

Los Angeles (AP) — The leader of a band of drifters charged with murdering actress Sharon Tate and six others won permission Wednesday to be his own attorney at his trial. The judge had warned: "You are making a sad and tragic mistake."

Charles M. Manson, 35, insisted, during an hour-long hearing, on defending himself, saying to the judge:

"I don't think there is anyone who can give me a defense . . . I respect your opinion, but all my life I've sat in front of judges and said 'yes sir, yes sir' and then I've sat in jail and said 'yes sir, yes sir.' I see love and sincerity in your mind but not in that robe you wear."

Manson has a 20-year record for offenses including car theft, robbery, white slavery, forgery and parole violation.

WILLIE 'THE ACTOR'

Legendary Jailbreaker Goes Free

Attica, N.Y. (UPI) — Willie "The Actor" Sutton, who in his prime could break into nearly any bank and out of nearly any jail he set his mind to, was released from prison on Christmas Eve, an old and broken man.

His release ended the 27-year prison term that brought his legendary career to a close.

State Corrections Commissioner Paul D. McGinnis ordered Sutton released from Attica State Prison following court orders vacating sentences that could have kept him in prison for the rest of his life.

Sutton, 68 and suffering from emphysema, was refused parole earlier this month by the state board of parole. But McGinnis said the court action made Sutton "subject to mandatory release."

Master Of Disguise

Considered the last of the great bank robbers, the Brooklyn-born Sutton was a master of disguise and almost as adept at escaping from jail.

His last escape was in 1947 from a county jail in Philadelphia.

It was five years before he was caught, spotted by Arnold Schuster, the son of a tailor, in a Brookyln subway. Schuster was shot to death 17 days later in what was believed to be an underworld reprisal for informing and Sutton began his long prison term.

Still Unsolved

The Schuster killing is still unsolved.

Sutton, never known to have fired a shot, was once asked by a district attorney why he robbed banks.

"Because that's where the money is," he replied with characteristic aplomb. He claimed in his autobiography that he had stolen $2 million from banks over the years.

His record of jailbreaks also was impressive, including one from Sing Sing in 1932 and another from the Holmesburg maximum security prison near Philadelphia in 1945.

Three Tires Fail To Meet Standards

Washington (AP) — The Transportation Department reported Wednesday that some tires made by three manufacturers failed to meet government safety standards in tests last month.

In the first of a series of monthly reports, the deppartment said Allstate's Supertred-Belted tire, manufactured by Armstrong Tire and Rubber Co., failed to meet endurance standards; General Tire and Rubber Co.'s Safety Jet tire failed to meet strength tests, and Uniroyal Tire Co.'s Tigerpaw-Belted tire failed bead-unseat tests.

The report said five other tires by Armstrong under the Allstate brand, four others by General and six others by Uniroyal met government standards.

Ross R. Ormsby, chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council, commented in a statement: "The tires in question are only a few of the many types and sizes produced by each comapny and only a drop in the bucket compared to the more than 180 million passenger car tires produced by U.S. manufacturers each year."

Testing for the department's National Highway Safety Bureau is performed by independent contractors. Failures are subjected to repeat tests, with the manufacturers permited to supply additional data. A recall is ordered only if tires fail on the recheck.

In its report on November tests, the bureau also said the Fiat 850 Coupe failed a steering test and further investigation is under way. The Volkswagen Model 11 failed to meet a standard for the integrity of fuel tanks, filler pipes and connections after a crash, and tests are continuing.

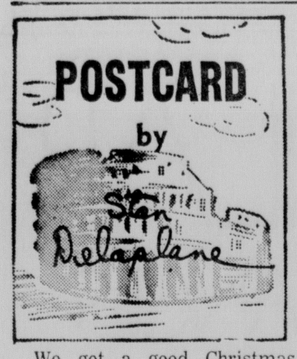
We're open late Friday night.



We got a good Christmas tree this year. ("Merry Christmas!" cried the children. I said: "Wait until I've had coffee. I have to oil my joints.")

We got the tree a little earlier than usual. Fact, we got everything done a little earlier. Cards. Presents. Invitations. (Is it possible I am discovering the executive touch?)

I got the tree early because the moppets got steamed up early. ("Open this package!" they shouted. I said: "Please! Your father was up late last night.")

We got the tree—we shopped a yard full of trees. I walk in and say, "Give me that one."

Women don't do it that way. Shopping has a ritual. You look at something and, if it suits you, you are disappointed. You must look at something else.

We had one excellent tree. Then we went shopping down a few more rows. And we couldn't find the first one again.

"It was right there a minute ago," she said. I said: "I told you to get it then." She said: "Keep looking. I know nobody bought it in that short time."

I said: "How about this one?" She said: "No. It had more branches at the bottom." I said: "Maybe this is it." She said: "No, it's not tall enough."

We finally bought a tree. But we still mourn the first tree. The one that got away.

☆ ☆ ☆

We hope Santa was good to you. (This Santa will be OK as soon as he gets some coffee down. Late to bed and early to rise, makes Santa get bags under his eyes.)

"Would you mind moving the tree around?" she said. "I can see one bare spot."

I said: "Am I in the Forestry Department? I've moved that tree every day for a week."

She said: "If you'd only stayed with that first tree so we didn't lose it."

I said: "So now I'm the one who lost the tree."

She said: "If we just give it a quarter turn to the right. I think that would do it."

No matter which way you turn a Christmas tree, the branches do not look full all the way around.

Wrens do not accept the way that God has made a tree. They think it should have branches exactly in the right places. Tailored trees.

She said: "A little to the right. No not so far. Now back a little. Oh, no. Now it's full in the middle but there's a bare spot at the bottom."

I said: "Let's buy another tree. Chop off the branches and fill in the bare spots. Like a hairpiece."

You can buy tailored trees. Plastic trees. They look quite real and you use them over and over. They make them now so they give off a scent of pine.

Such artificial trees put me off. On the subject of holidays I am a conservative. I don't want my feelings shaken up by new ideas.

Each year there's some talk of having pheasant or some other rare dish. But I hold out for turkey.

I don't want the stuffing changed either. No matter what exotic thing the women's magazines are printing. "How I Saved The Marriage By Changing From Chestnuts To Grapefruit in The Christmas Turkey Dressing.

I said: "Everytime we move the tree, something falls off and breaks." She said: "Let's take everything off and see how it looks bare. Then we'll redecorate it."

I said: "No chance. I don't want to do it all over again."

She said: "You don't have to do it. I'll do it."

That is impossible. No wren decorates a tree alone. She hangs ornaments. But like this:

"Hand me that one, will you? I don't want to get down from the ladder."

She says: "Where did we put the box of lights? It was here a minute ago. Look behind the curtain, will you?"

She got on the phone and said: "Yes, we put it up a week ago. But I'm thinking of doing it over again. The branches don't grow right on one side." She said: "Him? Oh, he thinks everything looks all right. You know how men are."

Survival Book Dictated

Vancouver (AP) — Moses David can't write, but his first book is in the hands of a publisher. David, a 52-year-old Indian from Smithers, 450 miles north of here, dictated the book "Native Survives" — about survival in the bush — to his wife.

YULETIDE PRAYER

As long as mortals have the nerve
To pray for things they don't deserve;
As long as conscience has a strain,
The prayers of men will go in vain.

So humbly, Lord, we ask Thee
That princely gift — sincerity.
And may we use it through Life's span.
To build on earth a better man.

And should we crave for gifts more royal,
Please make us God, a bit more loyal,
That we may give to those we serve
A measure full as they deserve.

And make us rich with eager zest
To give our work the very best,
To know the wheat, reject the chaff,
To have the nerve to stand the gaff.

O Lord, in mercy intervene
To keep our hearts both young and clean
The will to give a man a lift;

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Thursday

BEST BUYS include children's games, sports clothes, theater tickets, articles aimed at entertainment, luxury items.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Fun and games at home would be ideal prescription. Day to smooth over rough edges. Listen to those with problems, complaints. Know that you do have a unique kind of appeal.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You break through restrictions. You are able to coordinate holiday plans. Emotional restrictions fall by wayside. You come alive in that you revel in happiness of others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Much contact with neighbors, relatives provides real holiday atmosphere. Hunch pays dividends. Share knowledge. Give of yourself; that is most significant gift.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Flurry of excitement may be interrupted by mental calculation of costs. Key is to enjoy yourself. Know that every moment is precious.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Cycle; you break through barriers of restriction. You are in limelight. Your manner of dress, expression attract attention. You make others experience joy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Work you did in aiding persons who were hospitalized or incapacitated makes you feel glow of happiness. You are presented with tokens of appreciation. You feel good—and fulfilled.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Friends, spirit of good will could prevail. You are delightfully surprised by consideration others display. Be especially appreciative toward family members.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your sense of diplomacy is put to test. You learn that one you doubted has been saving to surprise you. Strive to understand — and appreciate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You are able to re-establish communications with one who has been at a distance. Your emotions are strong. Express them in constructive manner. You are touched by display of concern.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You know now that money spent to make others happy was wisely expended. Special relationship is spotlighted. Listen and learn. Be sympathetic, open to love.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You rediscover one close; there is chance to strengthen special relationship. If married, be especially considerate of mate. If single, know that individual in question is serious.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Perform special services. Show others that you appreciate their special needs. By giving, you also receive. Surprises are featured — mostly of pleasant variety.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are entering cycle which brings widespread recognition. Recently you established pattern which is demanding and represents challenge. Odds are favorable for success.

Hospital Trustees Back 3-Year Plan

Lincoln General Hospital trustees generally endorsed a $1.5 million three-year capital improvements budget that will be submitted to the City Council next month.

The plans for fiscal years 1971, 1972 and 1973 provide for completing and equipping one of the hospital's shell floors, physical plant modifications and land acquisition and parking improvements, administrator Robert W. Brungard told the board.

The board took no action on the capital improvements proposals but raised no objections at the time of presentation.

To Begen Planning

According to Brungard, Lincoln General would begin planning and holding money to finish a fourth patient floor during the three-year period. He said it might be possible to begin construction on the floor for 88-96 beds by the end of next year.

Brungard reported that he had included in the budget $10,000 each of the three years for physical plant modifications and $75,000 for land acquisition around the hospital to expand parking facilities in line with a master plan for development approved earlier.

Although the City Council requests a six-year projection for capital improvements budgets, Brungard declared that three years is the longest period that could be "honestly forecast."

The budget proposals included:

FY 1971, phase I of land expansion and physical plant modifications, $425,000; land acquisition and parking improvements, $75,000.

—FY 1972, phase II of expansion and modifications, $525,000; land acquisition and parking improvements, $75,000.

—FY 1973, phase III of expansion and modifications, $325,000; land acquisition and parking improvements, $75,000.

Infants Tested

In other business Wednesday the board accepted the report of the pediatrics department that congenital anomaly appraisal of the newborn is being performed routinely at Lincoln General.

Chief of staff Dr. Frank P. Stone said that Lincoln General is the first hospital to give the series of six tests to every infant born in the hospital so that corrections can be made immediately if necessary.

The procedure was proposed and urged by the interns, it was announced.

VOLUNTEER CHECKS IN AS POLICE AIDE

Charles Keller, one of 56 members of the Lincoln lodge of B'nai B'rith who volunteered to stand in as policemen and firemen through the Christmas holiday, is checked out on police radio by Officer Glen Hossman. The Jewish organization's "Project Family" was initiated to free regular policemen and firemen so that they could spend at least part of the holiday with their families. Police Lt. Dean Leitner, night traffic division chief, said that about 65% of the regular police force will be on duty, with 40 volunteers rounding out each shift as "second officers" in patrol cars and helping in the complaint and booking offices at the station. They were to work in shifts from Wednesday afternoon through 4 a.m. Friday. In the fire department, volunteers will work an eight-hour shift from noon until 8 p.m. Christmas Day, thus allowing each regular fireman to take two hours off from his 24-hour stint to be with his family, Asst. Fire Chief Dwayne McIntyre said. (Star Photo)

U.S. Withdrawing 7th Fleet From Formosa

Tokyo (UPI) — The United States has told Japan the U.S. 7th fleet will be withdrawn from patrols of the Formosa Strait off the China mainland, Kyodo News Agency reported Wednesday.

The Japanese Agency, quoting "informed diplomatic sources, said the official reason given for the move was to save money. But it said the sources believed it was aimed at relaxing tensions to try to speed a resumption of diplomatic talks between the United States and the Peking regime.

The Kyodo report said several destroyers of the 7th fleet were normally on standby duty in the strait separating the Nationalist Chinese Island of Formosa from the China mainland. Two destroyers were on constant alert on a rotating basis.

The U.S. said in a note to the Japanese government, according to Kyodo, that the alert would be reinstituted if the need arose.

The Foreign Ministry declined to comment on the report. The U.S. embassy in Tokyo said it has not been informed of any such move.

Refusal Of Zoning Change For Meat Processor Urged

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday recommended denial of an amendment to the zoning ordinance which would permit meat processing and meat purveying in the H-2 Highway Commercial district.

Planning commissioners felt that such a use was improper in the H-2 Highway Commercial district.

The ordinance amendment had been requested so that Prairie Maid Meat Products Co. could move to So. 14th and Old Cheney Road. An alternative solution proposed for locating the meat processing plant on the property, presently owned by Skyline Dairy, was to change the zone to industrial use.

Commission member Robert Allington said the city should not tailer a city-wide zoning ordinance to fit one particular business at a certain location.

Other commission members agreed that the main consideraton should be whether a meat processing plant would be beneficial on other land in the city zoned for highway commercial use.

Representatives for Skyline Dairy have indicated that a change of zone to industrial use would not be acceptable for location of the meat processing plant at the proposed location.

Other commission recommendations:

—Acting as the area-wide planning review agency, decided a high-speed suspended type of aerial train, called HIGHROAD, connecting Lincoln and Omaha, was not in conflict with the city's comprehensive plan. Action was needed so that the Nebraska Planning and Programming Department could apply to the federal Transportation Department for a technical study and feasibility grant.

—Acting as the area-wide planning review agency, decided a project by the Southeast Nebraska Health Planning Council, which is requesting a five-year federal operational grant, was not in conflict with the city's comprehensive plan.

—Approved vacation of north-south alley between Abbie and Oak and 8th and 9th.

—Deferred action on preliminary and final plat of Winsom Hill Replat, 62nd and Francis.

—Denied change of zone from A-2 Single Family to D Multiple Dwelling on property north of O St., east side of 44th, requested by Landmark Ltd.

—Denied change of zone from D Multiple Dwelling to G Local Business for proposed filling station at southwest corner of 9th and G, requested by Johnson Investment Co.

—Approved change of zone from M Restricted Industry to H-S Highway Service for use of property on NW 12th St. north of Interstate 80 as a motel.

—Approved change of zone from A-2 Single Family to B Two Family on property west of 48th St., north side of Antelope Creek Road, requested by Robert Van Pelt and Lloyd Marti.

Changes In Laws Cause New Christmas Rush

A rush on marriage licenses, paying of delinquent taxes and filing of deeds the last several days may have been due in part to Christmas, but not necessarily to the spirit of the season.

It so happens that Dec. 25 is exactly 90 days after adjournment of the 80th session of the Nebraska Legislature and many bills affecting fees, interest rates and other phases of county government become effective on that date.

Marriage licenses went from $3 to $5 Christmas Day and one prospective groom purchasing a license Wednesday was happily surprised that he was still in time for the bargain.

Interest on delinquent taxes increase from 7% to 9% from the date of delinquency as of Dec. 25 and fees for registering deeds and other documents also increae at that time.

Beginning Friday the counties will be able to retain 25% of the documentary stamp tax, all of which was previously kept by the state.

It is estimated that this change under LB200 will result in added revenue for Lancaster County of approximately $60,000 per year and changes in filing fees are expected to double the revenue collected for filing documents with the register of deeds office.

Also becoming effective Dec. 25 is an increase in mileage from eight cents to 10 cents per mile for jurors living outside the city limits of Lincoln.

Jailor fees will also be increased and mileage of sheriffs to 15 cents per mile, under provisions of LB 1187.

According to provisions of LB504, counties will no longer need to pay sales taxes on purchases under $100, and LB282 eliminates the showing of a lien on motor vehicle titles filed with the county clerk.

Baby Christmas And Jesus Born Again In 1969

Bethlehem, Occupied Jordan (AP) — Jesus and Christmas were born Christmas Eve into Arab Christian families in Bethlehem. Neither arrived amid hardship.

The girl, Mealadih (Christmas) Anstas, fourth child of a taxi driver who worships at the Greek Orthodox Church, was born at home.

The boy, Easa (Jesus) Hanna Morr, son of a Roman Catholic stone cutter, was born at Bethlehem's French hospital. The names are Arabic.

LOCAL PONDS AND LAKES NOT READY FOR SKATERS

Children receiving ice skates for Christmas will have to wait before they can test out their skates on local ponds.

City Park Superintendent Don Smith warned that the ice on city ponds and on the lakes is not thick enough yet for ice skating.

He said that a public announcement regarding skating will be issued once the ice is safe.

Smith predicted that Oak Lake might be the first one ready for skating.

Smith said snow on the ice-covered lake is being cleared so that the water will freeze to the proper thickness.

Drunk Driving Law Change Takes Effect

Christmas celebrants are reminded that as of Christmas Day the legal drunk level is less as a result of a bill passed by the 1969 Legislature which become effective Dec. 25.

LB1197 reduces from .15 to .10% the amount of alcohol in the blood allowing police to assume intoxication.

Proponents of the bill, which was passed 37-7, cited figures from national safety experts which indicated the chances of being involved in an accident under the legislation are substantially reduced.

A driver with .15% alcohol in his blood is 25 times more likely to be involved in an accident than a sober person, the statistics showed.

The figures further showed that when a driver has .10% alcohol content in his blood, his chances of being involved in an accident are reduced to six times greater than the non-drinker.

$197,000 Slated For Planning In Law Enforcement

Washington (AP) — The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has approved a planning grant of $197,000 to the Nebraska Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

The grant, which was announced by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., is the same amount as that approved for 1968.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration is under the Justice Department.

Also approved by LEAA was $92,042 to five Nebraska universities and colleges for student loans and grants to those who are going into the law enforcement field.

These include $71,800 to the University of Nebraska at Omaha; $13,500 to the University of Nebraska at Lincoln; $4,400 to Hiram Scott College, Scottsbluff; $1,642 to Peru State College, Peru, and $700 to Platte Junior College at Columbus.

What Christmas Means To Missouri Quarterback

EDITORS NOTE: Missouri quarterback Terry McMillan is preparing to play in the Orange Bowl. But, on Christmas Eve, this college hero turned to more serious thoughts. His ideas follow with the help of Associated Press Sports Writer Hubert Mizell.

By TERRY McMILLAN
Missouri Quarterback

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (AP) — On Christmas morning, I realize I'm one of the luckiest creatures on God's earth.

At times, I've felt sorry for myself. Maybe an opposing player has run me down in the open field. Or perhaps my ribs ached from a minor bruise.

How silly that is.

During a recent hospital stay with tonsillitis, I was ordered to take daily exercise in the physical therapy section. That's when I came into contact with kids who smiled even though their bodies were warped by diseases.

Most folks have plenty to be thankful for on Christmas Day, your ears may pick up sounds of children relishing new toys. Your nose tells of a feast ahead. God has been kind to most of us, much more than we deserve.

Reflecting on this Christmas morning, I think of the good times dad and I had before he died when I was 5. My first trip to the Orange Bowl came at age 2, holding dad's hand.

At the age of 21, I have a healthy body to be thankful for. It earned me a free education. I'm most fortunate especially when I think about those kids in the hospital.

My religious beliefs were carefully nourished during childhood and — as a college man — I find them getting stronger. I am associated with a wonderful football team, one I feel is more tuned-in than most when it comes to God.

Back in the summer, just before those tough two-a-day practice sessions began, a bunch of us worked together on physical conditioning. We ran, lifted weights and did exercises. We also spent time building moral fibres by having prayer and indepth gatherings to discuss our beliefs.

None of us think we are perfect, but this Missouri team is not afraid to get on its knees when problems arise. We realize God is in every game with us. He has a hand in our winning. He has a reason when we lose.

It has been a chain reaction. I don't pretend to be as fine a Christian as I'd like to be, but we shoot for the practical approach to problems. Other students may think we're sort of "Holy Roly" but that's not so. We believe God wants us to have a full life. And He knows as well as we that none of us on earth is perfect.

I'll admit it angers me to see the almost universal distrust in today's college-age people. There is a lot of turmoil on campuses, but you get only the bad side in news reports.

Personally, I think it's just another passing fad. Some of our older folks must have done bad things in the Roaring Twenties, but you'd never guess it to hear them talk.

Stories about people doing bad things is what sells newspapers. The fine persons who are kind and helpful every day of their lives are not interesting, I suppose.

It's true, however, that our Hippie types upset me. I hate to see students using their parents only as money suppliers. Some of the worst offenders are among the richest kids I know.

Kids today look for something else to turn to — maybe it's drugs, maybe uncontrolled sex. My outlet is God and I try to keep matters in the proper prospective.

Dallas QB Predicting Triumph

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — Craig Morton will shoulder the burden as a Dallas cowboy quarterback in a playoff game for the first time Sunday — against the Cleveland Browns — and he predicts victory because "We're nervous, scared and afraid.

The Cowboys and the Browns will tangle Sunday in the Cotton Bowl for the right to meet Saturday's winner of the Minnesota-Los Angeles game in the Western Conference playoff.

Morton is a believer in a team playing scared to win. And he indicated that may not have been the case against the Browns the last time.

"We weren't mentally ready and made mistakes," Morton said. "You've got to take what the Browns give you on offense. Stick with the game plan and don't make mistakes."

"It feels better right now than it has since I hurt it in the first Washington game," Morton said. It still hurts every now and then. But the pain is part of me now."

Hardwick Takes Earnings Crown

Akron, Ohio (AP) — A $900 fourth-place finish in the Hawaiian Invitational pushed Billy Hardwick of Louisville, Ky., to $64,160 in winnings for the year, the Professional Bowlers Association said Wednesday.

The total marked the second year that Hardwick has led the PBA in official tournament earnings.

Don Johnson of Kokomo, Ind., won the Hawaiian tournament and gained $2,000 to push his year's winnings to $35,303, moving up to seventh in final PBA money standings for 1969.

Jim Godman, Elkhart, Ind., $44,848; Dick Weber, St. Louis, Mo., $42,835; Dick Ritger Hartford, Wis., $38,343; Jim Stefanich, Joliet, Ill., $37,183; Dave Soutar, Gilroy, Calif., $36,920; Johnny Guenther, Seattle, Wash., $34,498; Don Glover, Bakersfield, Calif., $30,685; and Mike McGrath El Cerrito, Calif., $28,650.

South American Javelin Champion Is Auto Victim

Northridge, Calif. (AP) — The death in an automobile accident of Rolf Hoppe, holder of the South American and Chilean javelin record and a student at San Fernando Valley State College, was disclosed Wednesday.

Hoppe, 24, who won the college division javelin title in 1969 in the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet, was fatally injured Monday night in an accident on the San Diego Freeway. He was rushed to UCLA Medical Center where he died without regaining consciousness.

Hoppe, who would have been a senior at Valley State this spring, won the American college medal with a throw of 230 feet 7 inches. His South American record was 250-6.

ND Cagers May Play Top 3 Clubs

South Bend, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's basketball Irish, captained by a young man his coach calls "the complete ball player," may play the three top-ranking teams in the country in the next 10 days.

Austin Carr, Notre Dame's 6-3 junior captain, has led the Irish to a 6-1 record at the start of a schedule coach Johnny Dee calls "the toughest anyone has ever undertaken."

The Irish, rated No. 11 in the last Associated Press rankings, have a Saturday night game with No. 1 Kentucky at Louisville. If they defeat West Virginia in the opening session of the Sugar Bowl tourney Monday, they probably will play No. 3 South Carolina Tuesday.

They definitely will play at No. 2 UCLA Jan. 3

Carr has been dazzling this season, leading the team's scoring in all but two games. He was co-leader with Collis Jones in a victory over Indiana last Saturday. He has been under the 30 mark only twice and hit for 42 against Norther Illinois.

He is the third-leading scorer in the nation with a 33.3 average, behind Pete Paravich of Louisiana State and Calvin Murphy of Niagara.

"There's no question about his shooting ability, but more importantly he is a team player and passes off as much as anyone on the floor. He can rebound with the best of them and he serves as the quarterback in our defense."

Missouri Has Break Today

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (AP) — Missouri's football team will take a break from its Orange Bowl preparations Thursday to attend another grid classic and celebrate Christmas.

"We'll have a light workout in the morning," said coach Dan Devine. "After a nice Christmas dinner, the boys will go to the Shrine North-South game in Miami."

The Shrine kickoff is scheduled at 3:30 p.m., CST.

The Tigers play Penn State in the New Year's Night Orange Bowl game. The Nittany Lions were in Fort Lauderdale Dec. 18-21 for workouts, but coach Joe Paterno sent his team home for the holidays. The Penn State party is due in Miami on Friday for final tuneups.

Missouri will also shift to Miami for the last week of drills. The Tigers will be moved to their Miami Beach hotel while they attend the North-South game.

SHRINE CLASH SET TODAY

Rams' Allen Plays Down Minnesota Weather Factor

. . . OLSEN SAYS IT'S MATTER OF ADJUSTMENT

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP) — Coach George Allen sent his Los Angeles Rams out into the snow Wednesday for their first workout in this winter wonderland of the National Football League and refused to be drawn into a word battle with Minnesota coach Bud Grant.

Grant, obviously trying to gain a psychological edge for his Vikings in Saturday's Western Conference championship game, tried to establish the fact the game will be played in this northern outpost as a key factor in the clash.

But Allen, pulling on his sweat pants and blue Ram blazer at Macalester College, where the Rams worked as the snow fell, declined to estimate the fur-growing potential of his Californians.

"I don't have any comment on that," Allen said matter-of-factly. "The Vikings do have a slight advantage — when you live in warm weather, you never get used to the cold. But it's more psychological than anything else.

"The weather is not going to decide the winner."

Allen did admit, however, that he had brought the Rams to the Twin Cities in advance of the game — he did not do so for a playoff game the club lost at Green Bay two years ago — to get his warm-weather troops acclimated to cold-weather conditions.

"That's one of the reasons we're here now," he said.

"Coming in early will get us better acclimated. But weather's only part of it. This is an important game and I wanted to keep the team together and get them in the right frame of mind.

Despite Allen's verbal assurances, the Rams did make several concessions to the weather. They brought with them special shoes imported from Canada-broom hockey shoes kids in Canada use for running on ice.

The shoes, relatively inexpensive at $5.95 a pair, have holes in the ribbed rubber soles on the underside of a sneaker top, giving the players better suction on a slippery surface. About half of the Rams wore them throughout the workout.

Several of the players joked about the snow, which fell throughout their practice in 20-degree weather, but took every step possible to keep warm, donning a wide variety of clothes — stockings caps, face masks, gloves and extra sweaters and wind-breakers underneath their jerseys.

In addition, Merlin Olsen, a member of the Rams' famed front four, admitted frankly that the weather was a psychological factor that had to be dealt with.

"It's snowing — it can't be cold," said Olsen, "and I don't mean that facetiously. I mean it just that way. That's the way you have to look at it. It is a psychological thing, and the coach has always worked on it by saying whatever the weather, it is our weather.

"But it's still a thing everybody's got to adjust to himself — you can't tell anyone how to get ready for it. If his feet get cold out there and his ears start to freeze, he's got to make the adjustment himself.

"It's very much like having a nagging injury. You have to learn to expect to be uncomfortable, and ignore it."

Olsen proved correct as soon as the Rams tried to leave the field house for the workout field. They found the door that emptied directly onto the field impassable because of the snow piled high outside.

And when they trotted out on to the field, the orange lines that had been painted to designate the yard lines had been completely obliterated by the falling snow.

But despite those discomforts, they went to work anyway. Whether they were ignoring it all remained somewhat of a question, however.

—MOVE NOT DISCUSSED—

Tennessee Coach Eyes High Ranking

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — Except for the uncertainty over which Gator Bowl football team Doug Dickey will be coaching next season, the greatest psychological effect on Tennessee and Florida players in Saturday's game could be the final Associated Press ratings.

Tennessee, in third place until beaten by Mississippi, is currently 11th. Florida is 15th.

"I doubt if we have a chance to be national champion, even with a lot of upsetting in the bowl games, but I do think we have a chance to have the best record in the country," Dickey said.

A Gator Bowl victory would make Tennessee 10-1. If Texas and Penn State lose in the Cotton and Orange Bowls, they also will be 10-1. Southern California, with only a tie against its record, also must lose in the Rose Bowl if no team is to better Tennessee's.

Dickey was willing to discuss his Tennessee Volunteers' bowl preparations but rejected all queries on reports he has been offered the Florida head coaching job and will visit Gainesville next Tuesday to talk with officials there.

"Any statement about the University of Florida should come from the University of Florida," he repeated to questions relating to his possible return to his alma mater.

The 37-year-old coach who has won at least eight games each of the past five years, wouldn't even comment on whether the uncertainty of the situation might affect his players.

At Florida's final practice session in their temporary bowl camp at Daytona Beach, several Florida players refused to believe reports that Ray Graves may be coaching his last game this week and will put full attention on his job as athletic director.

"He told us if he was planning to do anything like that, he'd tell us first," said defensive back Steve Tannen.

Graves said he positively will not make an important announcement about the coaching situation Saturday after the game. He indicated he plans to remain in the dual role of coach and athletic director, but there were strong indications some change is in prospect.

Trying to keep his own and his players' attention on the game at hand, Graves sees an opportunity for Florida to finish in the nation's Top Ten for the first time in history.

"It's sure to be a factor with some boys," Graves said. "I've always tried to stay away from using the ratings as a motive, but different things impress different boys, and they read them and you can't ignore the poll.

Raiders' Wells Better, Oakland 5½-Point Picks

Oakland (AP) — The Oakland Raiders took a light workout Wednesday in preparation for their American Football League title game with the Kansas City Chiefs Jan. 4, but will have Christmas and Friday off.

After practice Saturday, they will take Sunday off, then go back to work the rest of the week.

Star receiver Warren Wells, who suffered a shoulder separation in the last Kansas City game, did some work with weights and spent some time running.

"The injury has reduced itself well," said coach John Madden. and depending upon the rate of recovery, Wells could become a big factor in the championship game.

Although the Raiders, who last beat the Chiefs 10-6, are rated 5½ point favorites to do it again, Madden said, "We were in a physical game with them before and expect to be again."

High-Scoring Battle Likely

. . . AFTERNOON KICKOFF

Miami, Fla (AP) — Purdue's Mike Phipps will duel a Rebel tandem of Bill Cappleman and Terry Bradshaw in Christmas Day's 22nd Shrine North-South All-Star football game in the Orange bowl.

A crowd of 35,000 is expected fo rthe 3:30 p.m., CST, kickoff as the South tries to protect an 11-9-1 edge in the series played for crippled children's hospitals.

Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue will coach the North while Florida State's Bill Peterson handles the South. Each will be blessed with his own star quarterback.

Cappleman threw for 2,467 yards and 14 touchdowns at Florida State this season. Peterson plans to start Cappleman, but he will split duty with Louisiana Tech's highly-touted Bradshaw.

The 6-foot-3, 215-pound Bradshaw is one of the top prospects to go in pro football's first-round draft. During his career at the tiny Louisiana school, Bradshaw passed for 6,589 yards and 39 touchdowns.

Bradshaw has a quick release and gets back into the pocket faster than Cappleman," said Peterson. "But Cappleman has seemed more accurate in pregame practices."

All the game's standout quarterbacks are big and fast and have strong arms. Phipps is 6-feet-3, weights 205 and was No. 2 to Oklahoma's Steve Owens in Heisman Trophy voting.

The All-American passer broke 24 Purdue records and amassed 5,883 yards in total offense during his brilliant career. Phipps connected on 169 passes this season for 2,527 yards and 23 touchdowns. The Columbus, Ind., senior is the only quarterback in the 1900s to lead three wins over Notre Dame.

With such offensive talent, there appears little chance of a repeat of last year's low-scoring North-South match. Dick Berlinski of Northwestern kicked a 23-yard field goal in the first period and it held up for a 3-0 win for the Northerners.

Mollenkopf will be assisted on the sidelines by Bob DeMoss of his Purdue staff. Miami coach Charlie Tate worked with Peterson to get the South club prepared.

Wolverine Will Miss Rose Bowl

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — A knee injury during practice Wednesday knocked sophomore tailback Glenn Doughty, Michigan's second-leading ground gainer, out of the Rose Bowl game with Southern Cal Jan. 1.

A team spokesman said Doughty possibly tore cartilage when he was hit while running during a passing drill. The spokesman said the team physician, Dr. Gerald O'Connor, was trying to arrange for surgery Christmas Day at UCLA Medical Center.

"It's a shame that a young sophomore like Doughty misses the chance to play in a game like the Rose Bowl," said UM coach Bo Schembechler. He called the injury "real disappointing."

Doughty, who shared tailback duties with Bill Taylor this year, rushed for 732 yards this season in 149 carries for almost five yards per carry.

The loss seriously affects Michigan's kick return game. Doughty and Tom Curtis have been used as kickoff return men while Curtis and Barry Pierson have been the primary punt return players.

Earlier, Schembechler said that Pierson probably will not be able to return punts in the Rose Bowl because his right forearm is in a cast due to an injury suffered two weeks ago.

Foreman Pitted With O'Halloran

New York (AP) — George Foreman, the unbeaten Olympic heavyweight champion of 1968, and Donata Padano, the all-winning Canadian welterweight champion, will be tested in 10-rounders on a Madison Square Garden boxing card Jan. 26.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner said Wednesday he has matched Foreman, 15-0 including 13 knockouts, with Jack O'Halloran, a 6-6, 240-pounder, with a 19-4-2 won-lost-draw record.

Paduano, 16-0 including eight knockouts, will meet another unbeaten welterweight, Irish Pat Murphy of West New York, N.J., who has a 25-0 record including 15 kayos.

Hockey Players Slated For Court Appearance

Ottawa (AP) — Hockey players Ted Green and Wayne Maki will appear in Ottawa court Feb. 16 to face charges of assault causing bodily harm.

Green suffered serious head injuries in a stick-swinging brawl with Maki during a National Hockey League exhibition game in the Ottawa Civic Center Sept. 21.

Racing Openers In Doubt

Arcadia, Calif. (AP) — Management-labor negotiations were broken off Wednesday and the scheduled opening Friday of two California race tracks, Santa Anita and Bay Meadows, remained in doubt.

The discussions, in progress for weeks, involve the California Federation of Racing Associations and the building service unions. The two tracks are federation members.

Principal workers involved are the parimutuel clerks, who are demanding about $5 a day pay increase plus fringe benefits.

"We are ready to open at Santa Anita Friday, providing these employees will report for work," said Fred H. Ryan, vice president and general manager of Santa Anita.

Despite the gloomy outlook, Santa Anita accepted entries for its Friday program.

Thirteen older horses were entered in the $25,000-added Palos Verdes Handicap at six furlongs in the opening day feature.

Included were last year's winner, Rising Market, and such speed horses as Dwan, Indulto and Canterbury Road.

Rising Market, recently purchased by Westerly Stud, was given high weight of 123 pounds, with Angel Cordero the rider. William Haggin Perry's Dwan would carry 120, including Laffit Pincay Jr., and Mrs. Edward Lasker's Indulto, 122, with Don Pierce up.

Owens, Phipps Head Camp Grid Selections

. . . OHIO STATE PLACES THREE

New Haven, Conn. (AP) — Steve Owens, the running back from Oklahoma who won the Heisman Trophy, and Purdue quarterback Mike Phipps top the list of college football stars for the 1969 Walter Camp All-American team.

The offensive and defensive squads, selected for the Walter Camp Foundation by the 7,500-member National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association, were announced Wednesday night.

Rounding out the offensive backfield are fullback Jim Otis, one of three Ohio State players selected, and Florida flanker Carlos Alvarez, the only sophomore to make the team. Texas, Southern California, Michigan, Penn State and Notre Dame each had two players on the 22-man team.

Offensive ends are Michigan's Jim Mandich and Charles (Cotton) Spreyer of Texas. Bob McKay of Texas and Sid Smith of Southern California man the tackle spots. The guard slots go to two juniors, Tennessee's Chip Kell and Larry DiNardo of Notre Dame. Rodney Brand of Arkansas is at center.

The defense includes the other two Ohio State selections, middle guard Jim Stillwagon and defensive back Jack Tatum. Penn State also is represented by two players, juniors Dennis Onkotz, a linebacker who is the only repeater from the 1968 Walter Camp team, and tackle Mike Reid.

Notre Dame's Mike McCoy joins Reid at tackle, while at the defensive ends are Jim Gunn of Southern California and Utah State's Phil Olsen.

The other two linebackers are Steve Kiner, of Tennessee and UCLA's Mike (Cat) Ballou.

In the defensive secondary with Tatum are Tom Curtis of Michigan and Auburn's Buddy McClinton.

The team members will be honored here Jan. 24 at the third annual Camp All-America dinner in New Haven.

Included in the dinner program will be presentation of the annual Walter Camp award, which goes this season to Pete Rozelle, commissioner of professional football, for outstanding contributions to the game.

The Walter Camp Foundation honors the Yale University football player from 1876 to 1882 and coach for two of those years. He chose the first all-America team in 1889.

–MICHIGAN PLAYERS MISS SNOW–

It Just Doesn't Seem Like Christmas Season

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Christmas isn't the same this year for Michigan football players, but they and their coach are sure to remember this Christmas more vividly than any snow-filled Dec. 25 of other years.

"I like California, but it's hard to get in the Christmas spirit," said captain Jim Mandich, referring to the warm weather and lack of snow that is quite a contrast to the Michigan weather the Wolverines left exactly one week ago.

Currently much of the Midwest, including Michigan, is partly paralyzed as a result of a pre-Christmas snowstorm.

The Wolverines arrived in Pasadena last Thursday to begin preparatons for their Rose Bowl encounter Jan. 1 against Southern Cal.

This is the first year Mandich, and many of his teammates, have spent Christmas in a warm climate. The all-American tight end is from Solon, Ohio, and most of the members of the UM team are from Ohio, Illinois and Michigan.

"But the players are caught up in the whole California trip and don't mind being away from home at Christmas," Mandich added. "I thought after two-a-day practices for four days they'd get pretty homesick, but they're not."

Assistant coach George Mans said several of the players couldn't get into the spirit of Christmas because of the weather, even though the palm trees in the area have Christmas lights. But all were able to make long distance telephone calls home on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day.

A dinner and Christmas party were scheduled for Thursday night at UM's hotel headquarters and all the players were to be given binoculars as gifts from the Rose Bowl committee. However, the committee has a problem of what to give USC players and coaches. Southern Cal has been the Pacific-8 Rose Bowl representative four straight years and four different gifts had to be ordered so that some Trojans wouldn't get identical items from years past.

UM coach Bob Schembechler got perhaps the best Christmas gift of all. He waas named Coach of the Year by the Football Writers Association.

"It was a complete surprise," said the first-year Wolverine coach Wednesday after his team finished the first of two Christmas Eve practice sessions.

Missouri Loses In Finals

El Paso, Tex. (AP) — Texas-El Paso outshot the Missouri Tigers for a 98-79 victory Tuesday and the championship of the Sun Carnival basketball tournament.

Earlier, Texas A&M outscored Clemson 78-63 for consolation honors.

The UTEP-Missouri game was settled in the last five minutes of the first half when Nate Archibald led a spurt that carried the Miners into an 11-point margin, 48-37. They led the rest of the way by margins of 11-15 points.

Archibald was named the tournament's most valuable player by newsmen and tournament officials for the second straight year.

Henry Smith, 6-7 pivot man, paced the Tigers with 19.

In the consolation game, Texas A&M took advantage of a Clemson cold spell for a 17-point lead in the first half and rode it to an easy 78-63 victory.

Blue-Gray Workouts Are Heavy

Montgomery, Ala. (AP) — North and South football squads wrapped up heavy preparations here Wednesday for Saturday's 32nd renewal of the Blue-Gray classic.

Ben Martin of Air Force, head coach for the Yankees, said he kept his players on the field about 90 minutes conducting a thorough review.

In addition to adding polish to game plans, Martin said the squad worked on the kick-off game, place kicking and goal line offenses and defenses.

"We'll start tapering off Thursday," he said, "and on Friday, of course, we'll do hardly anything."

In the Rebel camp there was heavy emphasis on all phases of the kicking game as well as a general brush-up on the offensive and defensive game plan.

South assistant coach Bill Dooley of North Carolina singled out Texas Tech kicking specialist Jerry Don Sanders for praise, saying Sanders boomed the ball real well during the 90-minute session.

Dooley said Gray quarterback Tommy Pharr of Mississippi State also had a good day throwing the ball.

Coaches for both squads say they plan to elect captains and announce starting lineups Thursday for the upcoming clash.

East, West Get Together Today

Palo Alto, Calif. (AP) — East and West Shrine football teams will have brief Christmas morning workouts, then get together for Christmas dinner before they knock heads in the 45th charity game Saturday.

Tom Cahill of Army, head coach for the East, announced that Harry Gonso of Indiana will start at quarterback.

Other offensive starters will include guards Ron Saul and Craig Wycinsky, both of Michigan State; Jared Green, Virginia Poly, and John Bradley, Northwestern, at tackles; Godfrey Zaunbrecher of Louisiana State at center; Jim O'Brien, Cincinnati, split end; Bill Maddoz, Syracuse, tight end; and Jim Otis, Ohio State, John Isenbarger, Indiana, and Lynn Moore, Army, as running backs.

Phipps Cited Big 10 MVP

Chicago (AP) — Quarterback Mike Phipps of Purdue was named Wednesday night the Big Ten's Most Valuable Player for 1969 and will receive the Silver Football, awarded annually since 1924 by The Chicago Tribune.

Phipps received 15 first place votes of the 23 cast by conference coaches, 10 veteran officials, Commissioner Bill Reed, sports editor Cooper Rollow of the Tribune and sports writer Roy Damer of the Tribune.

Runnerup in the balloting was fullback Jim Otis of Ohio State, followed by tight end Jim Mandich of Michigan and halfback John Isenbarger of Indiana.

Other selections for the award from Big Ten schools were Doug Dieken, Illinois; Larry Ely, Iowa; Ron Saul, Michigan State; Ray Parson, Minnesota; Don Ross, Northwestern; and Stu Voigt, Wisconsin.

Green Bay Coach Suffers Broken Hip In Accident

Green Bay, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay Packers coach and general manager Phil Bengtson suffered a broken hip in a fall Wednesday while loading a Christmas gift for his wife into the trunk of his car.

Bengtson was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital where he will remain for at least two weeks, according to Dr. E. S. Brusky, a team physician for the National Football League Club.

The 56-year-old coach said he was carrying the package and backing toward the rear of his car when he tripped over some object and fell backwards.

Texas Vows 'Win Game For Freddie'

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Longhorn battle cry for the New Year's Day 32nd annual Cotton Bowl classic with Notre Dame may very well be "Win it for Freddie."

The No. 1-ranked Horns suffered a deep shock the week after their 15-14 victory over Arkansas, giving them the Southwest Conference title, a Cotton Bowl berth and a possible national championship.

Safety Fred Steinmark, the defensive signal caller, was found to have cancer and a leg was amputated. He is now in M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston and doctors hope he will be well enough to see the game in person.

"We're going to dedicate the Cotton Bowl to Freddie," said Texas tight end Randy Peschel.

Rick Nabors, who will replace Steinmark in the game, said, "I'd like to win it for Freddie. I think everyone would."

So Texas isn't likely to have a letdown for the ninth-ranked Irish, who are ending 45 years of self-imposed bowl exile to play in the game.

A statement by Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian also is likely to help keep Texas emotionally ready for the game against the heavier Fighting Irish.

The game will pit strength against strength. Texas is the top rushing team in the nation and Notre Dame is near the top in stopping the run.

"We really haven't been tested against a good ground attack," Parseghian says. "That's what they do best and that's what we have to expect."

Notre Dame won't be without inspiration of its own at the game. Three members of the famed Four Horsemen who rolled over Stanford 27-10 in the 1925 Rose Bowl game — Notre Dame's only previous bowl appearance — will be in attendance.

Jim Crowley, Don Miller and Elmer Layden will be on hand to root for the team.

Notre Dame arrives in town Friday. Texas will begin Dallas workouts Dec. 29.

The Fighting Irish are one-touchdown underdogs but boast an explosive offense. Quarterback Joe Theismann is a capable runner and excellent passer. He has a potential all-American receiver in fleet Tom Gatewood.

The Irish defense is anchored by all-American tackle Mike McCoy.

Quarterback James Street of Texas is a clutch performer who has never started a game the Horns didn't win. Texas has won 19 consecutive games under his guidance.

Fullback Steve Worster, Ted Koy and Jim Bertelsen give Texas tremendous firepower in the backfield. Texas led the nation in rushing with an average of 363 yards per game. It was second in scoring with an average of 41.4.

Feb. 16 Ellis-Frazier Bout Near, Garden Official Says

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — Boxing's heavyweight division, where contracts are announced almost daily but punches seldom thrown, may finally have something going with a Jimmy Ellis-Joe Frazier match while former champ Cassius Clay trains in the wings.

Madison Square Garden matchmakers claim a Feb. 16 deal is only two penstrokes away with World Boxing Association king Ellis battling six-state champion Frazier.

And then there's Clay — training for a fight that may never come about. However, despite the many barriers, an agreement was reached Wednesday for worldwide television of a Clay-Frazier fight.

South Miami promoter Murry Woroner said he will sue if Frazier signs to fight anybody but Clay anywhere but in Woroner's South Miami studio. Woroner has the only current license for such a fight but can't seem to track down the Frazier people to talk business.

The South Miami offer is a $300,000 guarantee to Clay, the same to Frazier, with each man getting about one-third of the gross.

Harry Markson of Madison Square Garden said plans for the Feb. 16 match between Ellis and Frazier would be announced Monday in New York. The contract is said to allow 30 per cent of the gross for each boxer.

Miami Beach promoter Chris Dundee wants the Ellis-Frazier booking, but a deferred payment plan in New York's offer may decide that particular facet of the bidding. "I can't do the deferred payment things," said Dundee. "It looks like the Frazier people want the clause so they can spread out their earnings, but I can't work it out in Miami Beach.

Angelo Dundee, brother of Chris, is Ellis' manager and talked with Markson and Garden official Teddy Brenner on Tuesday. Angelo then left for a North Carolina vacation over the Christmas holidays after saying, "We're ready to fight."

Frazier's managers talked business regarding a Clay bout, but it failed to gain favor at several sites for several reasons, highlighted by public unhappiness over Clay's failure to be drafted into military service.

"We have the only valid license," said Woroner. "We're chasing the Frazier people, but with no luck. If Frazier doesn't fight in South Miami, he won't fight anywhere. We will take action."

Woroner made an agreement with Viewports, Inc., of London for worldwide closed-circuit television rights to his proposed Clay-Frazier fight.

Clay continues his workouts at the Dundees' Fifth street gym in Miami Beach, although Chris said, "Ellis is the champion in Miami Beach, and we're not interested in any Clay title go until Cassius' name is cleared with the WBA."

In New York, a federal judge refused Wednesday to force the New York State Athletic Commission to re-license Clay.

The commission suspended the license of Clay, also known as Muhammad Ali, April 28, 1967, when he refused to submit to military induction.

Judge Marvin E. Frankel denied a motion for an injunction against hte commission action against the commission achas express statutory power to make a felony conviction grounds for refusing, suspending or revoking a license.

The commission was well within the bounds of rationality when it concluded that the conviction and five year sentence in this case justified refusal of the 1969 application, Frankel continued.

New 'Big A' Now Making Cage Scene

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — A new "Big A" in college basketball goes on display outside his home area for the first time in the Evansville, Ind., Holiday Tournament this weekend.

Artis Gilmore stands 7-foot-2 and that might be enough for the folks at Jacksonville University to label him a successor to Lew Alcindor's "Big A" title.

It isn't only his size, however. Gilmore has the ability and versatility, too. He has a variety of shots, great spring in his legs and an excellent sense of timing.

So far, he has convinced six opponents as the Jacksonville Dolphins ran them down and moved into the national rankings for the first time in the private school's 12-year history. They currently are 13th.

Gilmore isn't alone. He isn't even head and shoulders above all his teammates. With 7-foot Pembrook Burrows and 6-foot-12 Rod McIntyre in the lineup, the Dolphins claim to be the nation's tallest college team.

Other starters are Rex Morgan, a clever 6-foot-5 sharpshooter who was 10th-highest scorer in the nation last year with a 26.7 point average, and 5-foot-10 Vaughn Wedeking, good outside shooter and playmaker.

Jacksonville has scored over 100 points in four games and might have done so against Georgetown, as well, if a fight hadn't stopped the game in the first half with the Dolphins ahead 41-26. Georgetown forfeited.

Coach Joe Williams, making steady improvement in the sport since he became coach four years ago, picked up his 7-foot giants from junior college ranks. Gilmore's home is Chipley, Fla., but he came here from Gardner-Webb Junior College in North Carolina. Burrows is from West Palm Beach and played at Brevard Junior College in East Central Florida.

Morgan, McIntyre and Wedeking, plus subs Greg Nelson and Chip Dublin, were mainstays on the Jacksonville team that had a 17-7 record last year.

Eleven Pro Cage Teams Drawing Well

Unofficial attendance figures through Dec. 14, complied by the Indianapolis News, show the American Basketball Association has attracted 481,370 fans to 143 games, an average of 3,366 per game.

The ABA averaged 2,979 per game in the regulation 1968-69 season.

The National Basketball Association drew 1,655,691 for its first 211 games this season for an average of 7,846. It averaged 7,039 last year.

That indicates a 13 per cent increase in the ABA and 11 per cent in the NBA.

New York leads the NBA with an average attendance of 17,762, up 2,358 from last season. Los Angeles of the NBA has the second-best average of 11,215 but it's down 570 from last year.

The Indiana Pacers lead the ABA in attendance with an average of 8,118, up 2,021 from last year.

UCLA Rips LSU, 133-84,

Los Angeles (AP) — UCLA's undefeated Bruins outgunned Louisiana State and the nation's leadign scorer Pete Maravich 133-84 Tuesday night establishing a new school scoring record in their intersectional basketball clash.

Maravich, off his game and continually pressured, managed nevertheless to score 38 points, well below his 46.6 average for the season.

NWU Cagers' Vacation A Short One

Nebraska Wesleyan University's basketball players had their holiday "vacation" almost wiped out this week.

While other members of the study body embarked on a month long combination holiday and semester break, basketball coach Irv Peterson had other plans for his cagers.

They were run through one of the season's toughest and longest drills Monday morning. And an encore was staged Tuesday afternoon before a brief Christmas dismissal.

The two rough practices came on the heels of a very disappointing 80-64 setback suffered last Friday night at the hands of Morningside College in Sioux City, Ia.

It was by far NWU's worst showing of the season and was only their second loss compared with five wins. The Plainsmen were so futile at Morningside that not a single member of the starting quintet came up to season point averages.

Peterson has ordered his cagers back to campus Friday for added work both that day and Saturday.

A rare Sunday practice is also scheduled, but that will be held in Cedar Rapids, Ia., where the Plainsmen open the first of many stands on foreign soil with basically unknown opponents.

The Sunday evening workout will possibly be a limbering up affair following the 340-mile bus ride across Iowa. On Monday night NWU will meet Cornell, Ia., in the first round of the Coe College Basketball Invitational.

In the late Monday game host Coe meets Elmhurst, Ill. The consolation and championship games are Tuesday.

Junior John Brown got 16 points against Morningside, but his season average slipped a point to 22.3. Tthis compares with the latest NCAA college division charts where it takes a 24-point norm to hit the top 40 scorers in the country.

Hunting Clock

The following applies to any point in Nebraska that is due north or due south of each of the cities and towns. For each 13 miles west of any designated city add one minute, and for each 13 miles east subtract one minute. All times are Central Standard Time, except those for Scottsbluff, which is on Mountain Standard Time. Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset for deer and one-half hour before sunrise to sunset for all other species. Shooting hours for the High Plains Experimental Duck Season are sunrise to sunset.

Dr. Thorson Will Research Sharks In Amazon River

The chairman of the University of Nebraska's zoology department will be doing research on fresh water sharks in South America's Amazon River during the next month.

Dr. Thomas B. Thorson will leave Friday for a four-week research trip which will take him up the Amazon River into Brazil, Colombia, Peru and Argentina. In Argentina, Dr. Thorson will be researching the Parana River.

According to Dr. Thorson, it is known that fresh water sharks inhabit the Amazon but thus far no one has determined how far upstream they are. During his stay, Dr. Thorson hopes to determine this.

This Week's Health Tip

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Winter holidays mean more highway accidents. If you are witness to a wreck, please remember that the best way you can aid an accident victim is to resist the urge to move the injured person and rush him to a hospital.

Hastily moving an injured person can be disastrous for they often have spinal injuries.

Unless the victim is exposed to greater dangers, such as fire or drowning, give him first aid where he is, and wait for experienced ambulance personnel.

Economist's Remarks Boost Stocks

New York (AP) — Remarks by the Nixon administration's top economist helped push the Dow Jones industrial average Wednesday to its best level in three weeks.

The Dow industrial average, a barometer of blue-chip issues, gained 10.36, a fraction lower than its high for the session, to 794.15, its highest level since last Dec. 4 when the reading was 796.53.

The New York Stock Exchange index of 1,200 common stocks closed at 50.87, up 0.59.

Analysts attributed the strong showing to comments of Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, that present monetary restrictions could not continue indefinitely "without having the economy drift below its potential" for growth.

Not since last Thursday's statement by Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman-designate of the Federal Reserve Board, has the market reacted with such a large daily gain. Burns said he hoped the Federal Reserve Board would reconsider its policy when more facts become known about the tax-reform bill and the budget. The Federal Reserve's stringent monetary restrictions are considered a major market depressent.

When there's even a hint of some easing of the restrictions, as Burns' and McCracken's statements were interpreted by some, "you have an explosive rally," commented Eldon Grimm, senior vice president of Walston & Co.

Trading began active but tapered in the afternoon with 11.67 million shares changing hands, down from Tuesday's 13.9 million shares.

Gains racked up a 3-to-1 edge over losses, as 1,083 issues finished ahead, 318 declined, and 207 were unchanged.

The rally was stalled briefly in the afternoon by the profit-taking on the part of some investors who wished to keep their portfolios more liquid over the holidays.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed at 268.9, up 4.0, with industrials up 5.1, rails ahead 3.7 and utilities up .9.

Institutional trading slackened as 53 blocks of 10,000 shares or more were moved, 11 less than on Tuesday.

A 93,000-share block of Kinney Preferred D, off 1⅜ to 63½ was the largest block traded. A 62,000 share block of Ludlow Corp., up ¼ to 31, also was handled. McDonnell Douglas, up 2 to 29½, topped the Big Board's active list with a turnover of 183,300 shares. The company was selected late Tuesday to build the Air Force's F15 supersonic fighter.

McDonnell won out over North American Rockwell, off 3 to 22¾, and Fairchild Hiller, off 3⅛ to 13⅛.

Also among the actives, Atlantic Richfield gained 5¼ to 84¾, after the petroleum company reported completion of a discovery oil well off the shore of Indonesia.

The American Stock Exchange price index closed at $26.15, up 26 cents, on a turnover of 4.68 million shares, off from Tuesday's volume of 5.07 million shares.

$30 Hogs Foreseen At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Thirty-dollar hogs right after Christmas?

Not very many bets were being placed against that figure at Omaha Wednesday as the hog market drove steadily upward and burst through the 29.00 level. The last such season was four years ago when the market in spectacular fashion boomed to post war highs.

Trading here Wednesday was active and 25-50 cents higher, most advance on the top end of quotations as shippers purchased aggressively for post-holiday arrival at distant packing plants. Receipts were light and kept competition for the remainder of the supply keen, even though most nearby packers were purchasing only limited numbers to start Friday morning kills. Sows carried the only sour note in the trade, holding steady at best with heavy weight offerings tending easy on late rounds.

Wednesday, bulk of the better 190-240 lb. butchers here cleared at 28.25-29.25, 100 head selected meat types topping at 29.50, best here since late 1965. Sows bunched at 21.00-23.00

Fed cattle prices were generally steady with most buying interests purchasing selectively and for immediate Friday morning needs. Heavier steers and lower grade heifers continued to move slow under narrow demand.

Sharply Reduced Release Of Biocides Recommended

The New York Times

Washington — A government-appointed panel has urged a drastic reduction in the release of poisonous materials into the environment.

The emphasis was on pesticides, but the recommendation included curbing the release of these "biocidal" materials during industrial production and in home use as well as in large-scale agricultural use.

The panel said too little is known of the effects of pesticides on all manner of living things, although the chemicals have often been shown to upset the balance of nature and even to eliminate valuable species from a local area.

The panel cited studies showing that certain birds, fish and insects were particularly vulnerable.

"There are suggestions that pesticides in the environment may adversely affect processes as fundamental to the biosphere as photosynthesis in the oceans," said the report.

The recommendation to curb "biocidal" materials was made in a report of a commission on pesticides appointed by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare.

The chairman of the commission was Dr. Emil M. Mrak, chancellor emeritus of the University of California at Davis.

DDT In Penguins

The first part of the report, consisting of a summary and major conclusions, was made public last month. It was influential in the government's decision to reduce drastically the uses of DDT, a persistent pesticide that has become so widely distributed across the planet that traces are found in the oceans, in penguins living in the remote Antarctic and even in unborn human babies.

The complete report included a wealth of detail on which the conclusions were based and also recommendations of subcommittees and advisory panels.

The panel cited a report showing that photosynthesis by oceanic algae dropped 50 to 90% on exposure to 100 parts per billion of DDT. It cited another report showing that one type of algae is affected by exposures as low as three parts per 10 billion over three days.

Good Insects Hard-Hit

Another study, on the effects of pesticides on beneficial insects, showed that these were reduced 95% after exposure to parathion while the plant-eating "target" insects were reduced by only 8%.

Noting that human beings generally have traces of persistent pesticides in their tissues and body fluids, a panel on the effects of pesticides on man said there has been no proof that these traces do any harm.

The panel said there is little ground for forebodings of disaster, but even less ground for complacency.

An 'Absurdity'

"To sum up," said the panel, "the field of pesticide toxicology exemplifies the absurdity of a situation in which 200 million Americans are undergoing lifelong exposure, yet our knowledge of what is happening to them is at best fragmentary and for the most part indirect and inferential."

He said it was clear that greater protective measures must be taken. As steps toward that goal he announced several actions within the department. A clearing house for pesticides, a permanent pesticides advisory committee and a task force to improve pesticide operations will be set up. A new interagency agreement on pesticide responsibilities will be negotiated. Testing for hazardous effects of pesticides will be improved and expanded.

Translator Eyed For McCook ETV

McCook (AP) — The Nebraska Educational Television Commission staff says a translator station should be installed in McCook to improve ETV network reception in the southwest Nebraska community.

Commenting on complaints about poor ETV reception in McCook, Richard J. Raecke, ETV network education coordinator, said the translator proposal will be presented to the State ETV Commission.

Dr. McFadden, 81, Dies; Services To Be Saturday

Funeral services will be held in Omaha Saturday afternoon for Dr. Harry W. McFadden, former medical chief of the Nebraska region Veterans' Administration office in Omaha. McFadden, 81, died Wednesday.

He graduated from medical school in 1910 and practiced for many years in Greenwood. He served in the Medical Corps in both world wars, and later worked for the VA, spending a total of 30 years in military and veterans' medicine.

In 1964 Dr. McFadden became a member of the Nebraska State Medical Association Half-Century Club, for doctors with 50 years of medical practice.

He is survived by his wife, Alma; son, Dr. H. W. McFadden Jr. of Omaha; three sisters, Mrs. Agnes L. Williamson of Clay Center, Mrs. Ruth E. Fry of Boulder, Colo., Mrs. Gladys L. Brown of Ft. Myers, Fla.; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Vidah Hall of Arlington, Va.; two grandchildren; nieces and nephews.

Holly And Noel's Christmas Names Are Coincidence

Pittsburgh (AP) — They'll be signing their Christmas cards Holly and Noel.

She will marry Noel Wilson, 31, an Englishman, Saturday. The couple then will leave for San Francisco State College, where Noel teaches English.

Brand Renewal Deadline Is Told

Cattlemen whose last names begin with L through Z have until Dec. 31 to renew their brands, Secretary of State Frank Marsh said.

Marsh said 6,000 of the 18,000 brand owners involved have not yet returned their renewal notices and $3 fees. Payment of the fee reregisters a brand for four years.

Omaha Man, 80, Beaten By Thugs Dies Of Injuries

Omaha (AP) — An 80-year-old man, Harry Pickens, who was beaten by a group of thugs who forced their way into his home Nov. 30, died in a hospital Tuesday, police reported.

Police said Pickens at first refused medical aid but entered a hospital several hours after the incident. He was struck on the head, and suffered broken ribs in the attack. Officers reported a phonograph and some records were missing.

Police said an autopsy will be performed to determine if the injuries suffered in the attack caused Pickens' death.

Cummins Named Acting Head Of Fairbury Schools

Fairbury — William Cummins, junior high principal here the past eight years, has been named acting school superintendent.

The appointment was announced Wednesday afternoon by Dr. G. O. Johnson, Fairbury school board president.

Cummins, a native of Dawson, will serve in the absence of Lewis Patrick, who was hospitalized Monday after a heart attack. The principalship has not yet been filled.

Girl, 18, Stabbed In Family Dispute

An 18-year-old Lincoln girl was admitted to a local hospital Wednesday night suffering from a knife wound in her arm. She was listed in "fair" condition.

The stabbing apparently occurred during a family dispute, police said.

Wine On Tap

Cincinnati (UPI) — Residents of suburban Silvertown found wine in their water taps — and some complained. The Water Department investigated and found a faulty valve at the Meier's Wine Cellar forced the wine into residential water mains. The situation was corrected.

Student Smoking Results In Blazes At Northeast High

Principal Harland Taylor Wednesday confirmed reports in the student newspaper that a tossed cigarette started a smoldering fire in a small storage room off the stage area which required investigation by the state fire marshal and another smoldering fire also required firemen and equipment just two days later.

Certain restrooms at the school are locked at specific times in an attempt to control the smoking problem, Taylor said.

The principal said he felt that student smoking is becoming "more of a problem." He said that offenders are punished individually but that some offenses result in automatic suspension.

Operation Bridge Asks Director Jackson To Quit

Omaha (AP) — Dennis Jackson, executive director of Omaha's "Operation Bridge" has resigned, Thomas Burke, chairman of the board of directors of the West Omaha Youth Counseling Service, announced Wednesday. Jackson has headed the program since its inception in July of 1968.

Burke said the executive committee of the board asked for the resignation. He said members felt Jackson's effectiveness had been jeopardized by what Burke described as "certain errors in judgment and an apparent lack of understanding in specific situations."

Jackson said he had, in his words, made "an error that had nothing to do with my work with young people." He did not elaborate.

Uniform Ban Upheld

Omaha (AP)—The city legal department has approved orders from Police Chief Richard R. Andersen, banning officers from wearing their regular uniforms while working on off-duty jobs and from directing traffic for private companies.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

Thomas Nast, 19th Century cartoonist, created the portrait of Santa Claus which has become the accepted image of the "jolly old elf."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A X Y D L B A A X R
to L O N G F E L L O W

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
